Part of being a leader is participating in extracurricular activities. George Bond is an active and productive member of the percussion section of the marching band.

Follow the Leaders

Northeast is back and bigger and better than ever! To all the new students and faculty entering our esteemed hallways, strap in for a bumpy and exciting ride. We are now Northeast Health Science Magnet High School with Enrichment in Mathematics (whoa! what a mouthful).

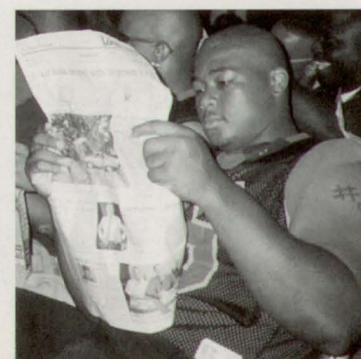

Thanks to the many accomplishments of the leaders of Northeast, like the Salmagundi, football, softball, and basketball, high ranking JROTC cadets, and the best faculty in Bibb county, we are a thriving community of individuals who don't know the meanings of the words quit, lose, or failure. So with that in mind, sit back and browse through these pages. Follow the Leaders on their journey through an eventful year.

As a leader, special recognition goes to those that deserve it. During a morning assembly, Colonel Dionne Benjamin receives recognition from Mrs. Davis and officials for exemplary performance and advancement in rank in the JROTC program.

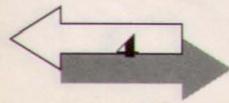

One of the many privileges of being a leader is the right to sit and relax during an all too boisterous rally. Al Lucas leisurely reads the stock market reports to keep up with business while other students doodle away their time.

Stephanie Clark and Nikki McGee celebrate the opportunity to be a part of the best leaders of the county. During pep rallies, even Freshmen show their Raider Pride.

A LEADER'S DEDICATION

The word dedication nized, hardworking, and possibly be.

is often mentioned when people talk about Mrs. Sherry Mosely. She is a graduate of Georgia Southern University, with a Master's Degree from the same institution. Mosely was a past president of PAGE, the Professional Association of Georgia Educators and an active member of Phi Delta Kappa sorority. She faithfully served the students of Northeast for six years.

Before becoming an administrator, she was an English teacher. Mosely was a true friend to everyone who knew her. Mrs. Mosely was prompt, well orga- nized, hardworking, and devoted. She was always willing to go the extra mile for the teachers and students.

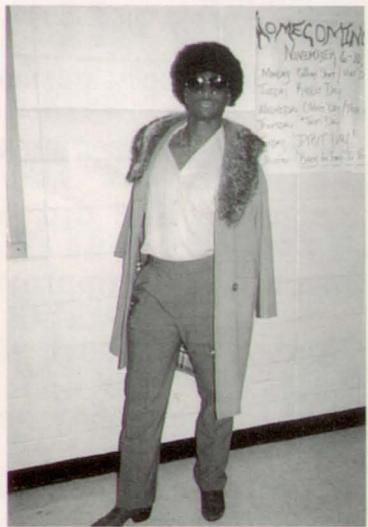

She worked diligently to improve the image of Northeast. She promoted the student recognition programs.

Leading The Right Life

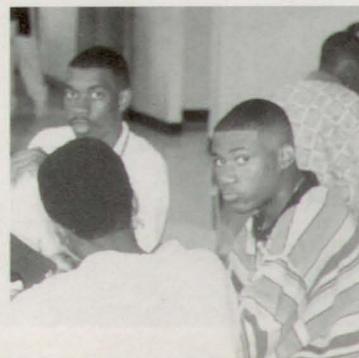

Bells ringing, lockers closing, and students conversing fill the halls of Northeast each day. There is time for students to relax their educated minds and enjoy interesting lunches. Activities during a typical year at Northeast consist of anything from pep rallies, sports events, homecoming, and spirit week.

Students can go to classes or participate in activities that let them express their unique style. Students can even become trendsetters by modeling the latest styles and trends in everything from hairdos to shoes. There's one thing that all students at Northeast love do and that's Leading The Right Life.

Homecoming is a day for all Freshman, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors to come together as one to support their graduating class. Homecoming is a very special day for those who are running for positions ranging from Miss Freshman to Miss Northeast. Homecoming is the most important day of spirit week. It is also the end of the football season. The football players try to do their best to win their last game of the season while the student body gathers around to support the team toward a victorious win.

"An Evening Of Fantasy"

Miss Valhalla 1995

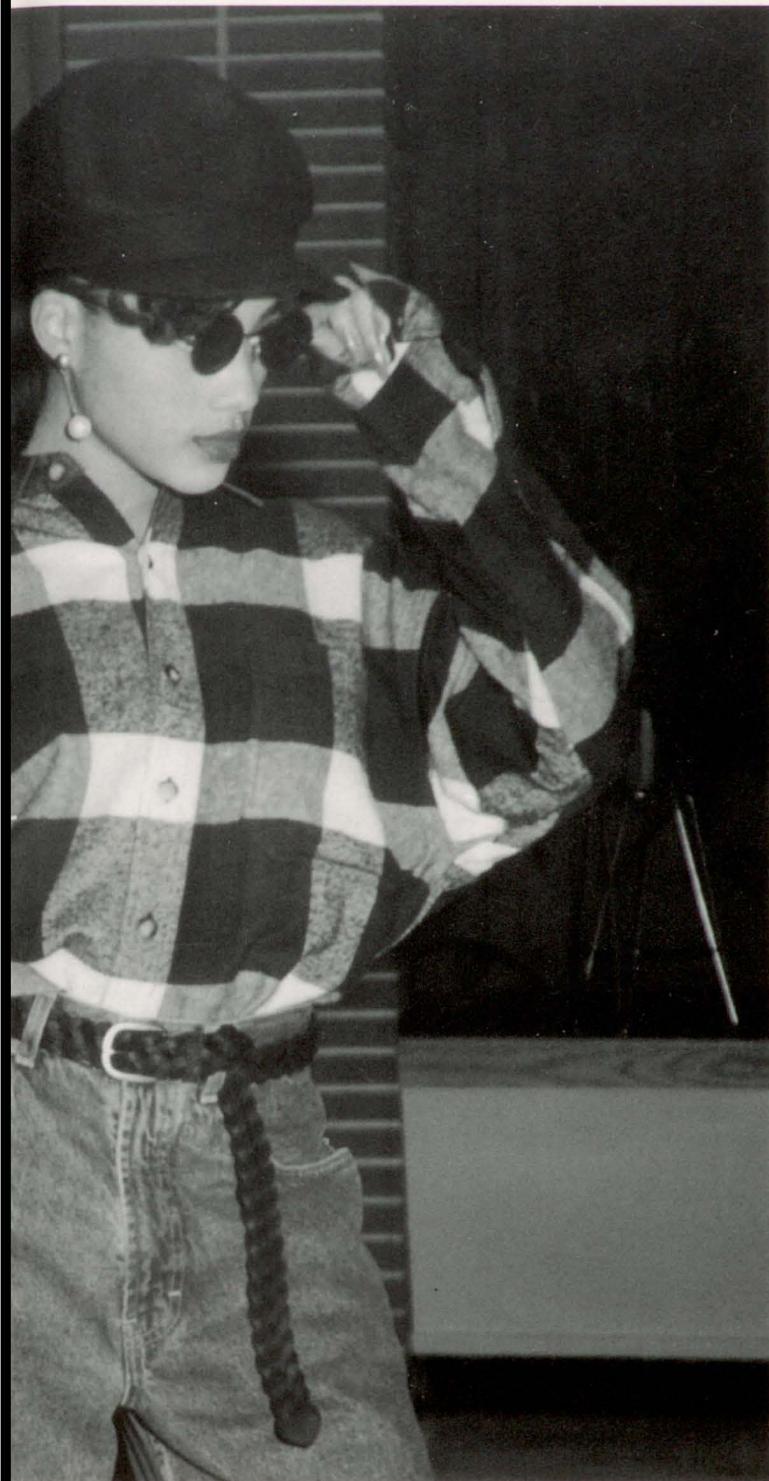

Northeast High School had its first Miss Valhalla Pageant in December 2, 1995. This pageant was a great success due to the amount of participation from the contestants, judges, and sponsors. This pageant was to help support the 1995-96 Valhalla Yearbook. In this pageant there were eight contestants who were devoted to the pageant. The contestants were Tiffany Archer, Erica Lamar, Jarquette Hall, Dionne Benjamin, Yolande' Gibson, Shannon Palmer, Lakecia Jackson, and Terri Williams. The Miss Valhalla for 1995-96 is Tiffany Archer. Congratulations to her!! The pageant was judged by teachers, former misses, deans of local colleges, and a Miss America Judge.

And a 1, And a 2, And a 3! Mr. Bruce directs the Jazz Band at the Miss Valhalla Pageant.

Sing Girls, Sing! Taquilia Fitzpatrick, Veronica Mullen, Rosette Morgan, Demetria Camp, and Adria Pitts sing to the fullest extent while at the Miss Valhalla Pageant.

Striking a pose, Dionne Benjamin vogues her best for the judges.

Congratulations! Shannon Palmer, Yolande' Gibson, Dionne Benjamin, Erica Lamar, and Tiffany Archer are all being nominated for a certain title during the pageant.

Through Thick and Thin, Best Friends Stick Together

Best Friends Make Memories

A best friend is someone who accepts you despite all of your faults. A best friend says "you are my friend and I love you."

Walking around campus you'll notice friends sharing time before school, during breaks and lunch, and after school. You might even see friends scheduling their classes around each others' schedules. Friends will go to just about any lengths to be together.

So what makes a good friend? Is it a person who is willing to share any or all of her/ his clothes? Is it a person who will lend you money when you're in a bind, short change for lunch? Is a friend someone who will stand up for you when people are trying to get you down. Yes, a friend possesses all of these characteristics.

Many times you can see friends spending time together out side of school. Friends often try to get jobs at the same place.

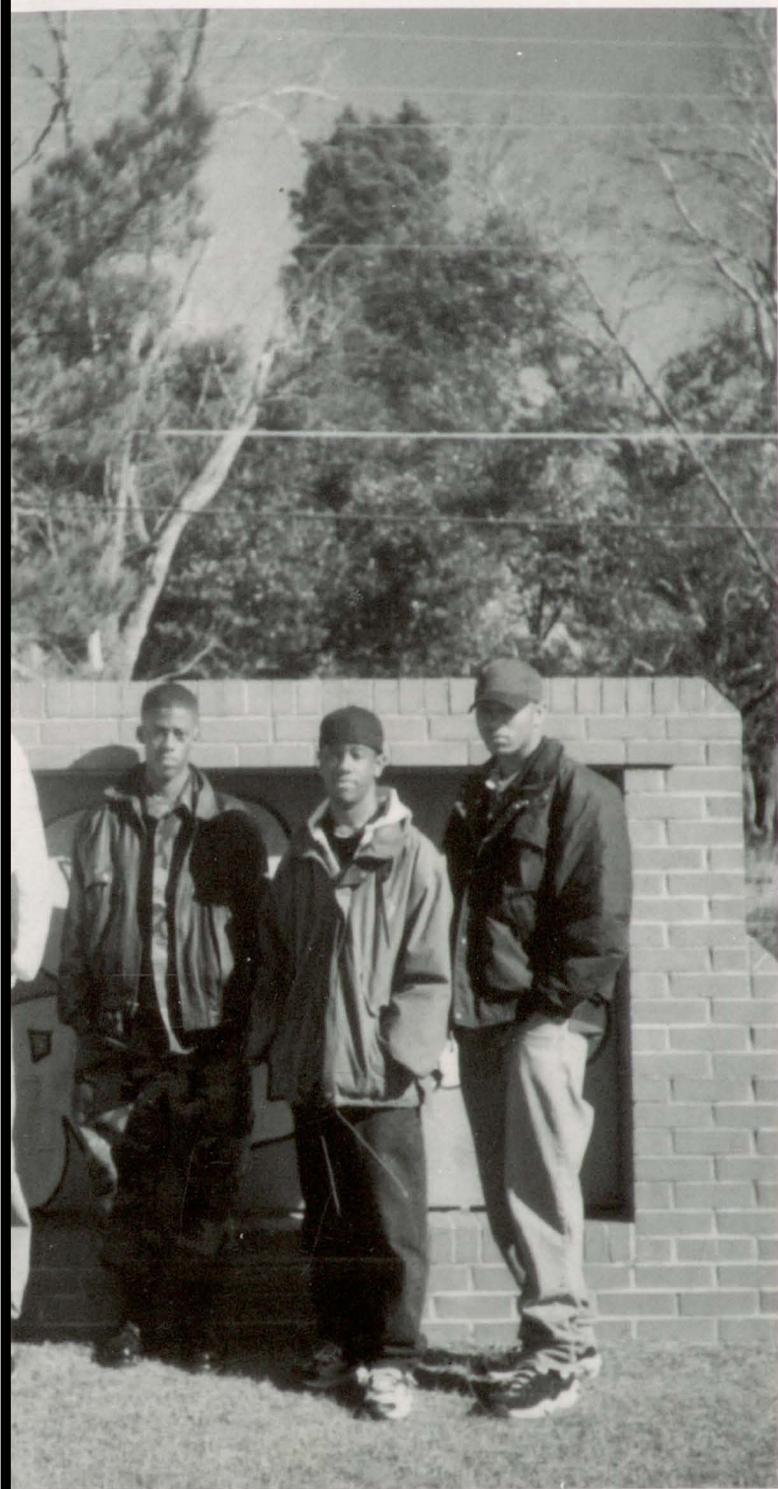

Ask anyone on campus and they'll tell you that best friends are easy to spot. Even the teachers know that where you find one friend you'll find the other.

Where one goes the other follows. LaQuaonta Williams and Davonia Henley can always be seen together.

Quandra Wright and Darlinda Douglass do everything together, including attending classes. Both are members of the yearbook staff.

If threes a crowd, what does for make, best fiends of course! These four guys will always be friends.

Sometimes friends even dress alike. Kawanda Veal and Charity Hughes are always keeping track of what the other is styling.

Battle of the sexes? No way! Courtney Ross and Kenyatta Jolly definitely prove that girls and guys can be best friends.

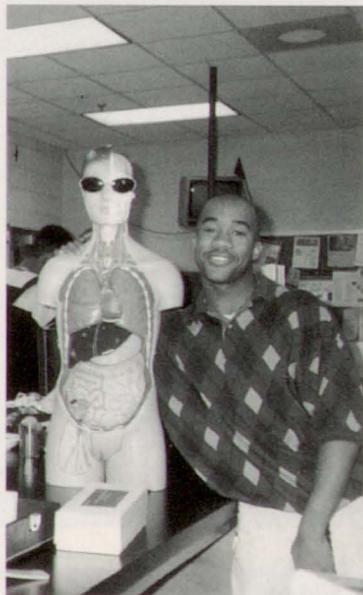

Friendship crosses the boundaries of age, relation, sex, and class. Corey King, Shimeka King, Linrica Mills, and Adrienne Gibbs no what it takes to have a lasting friendship.

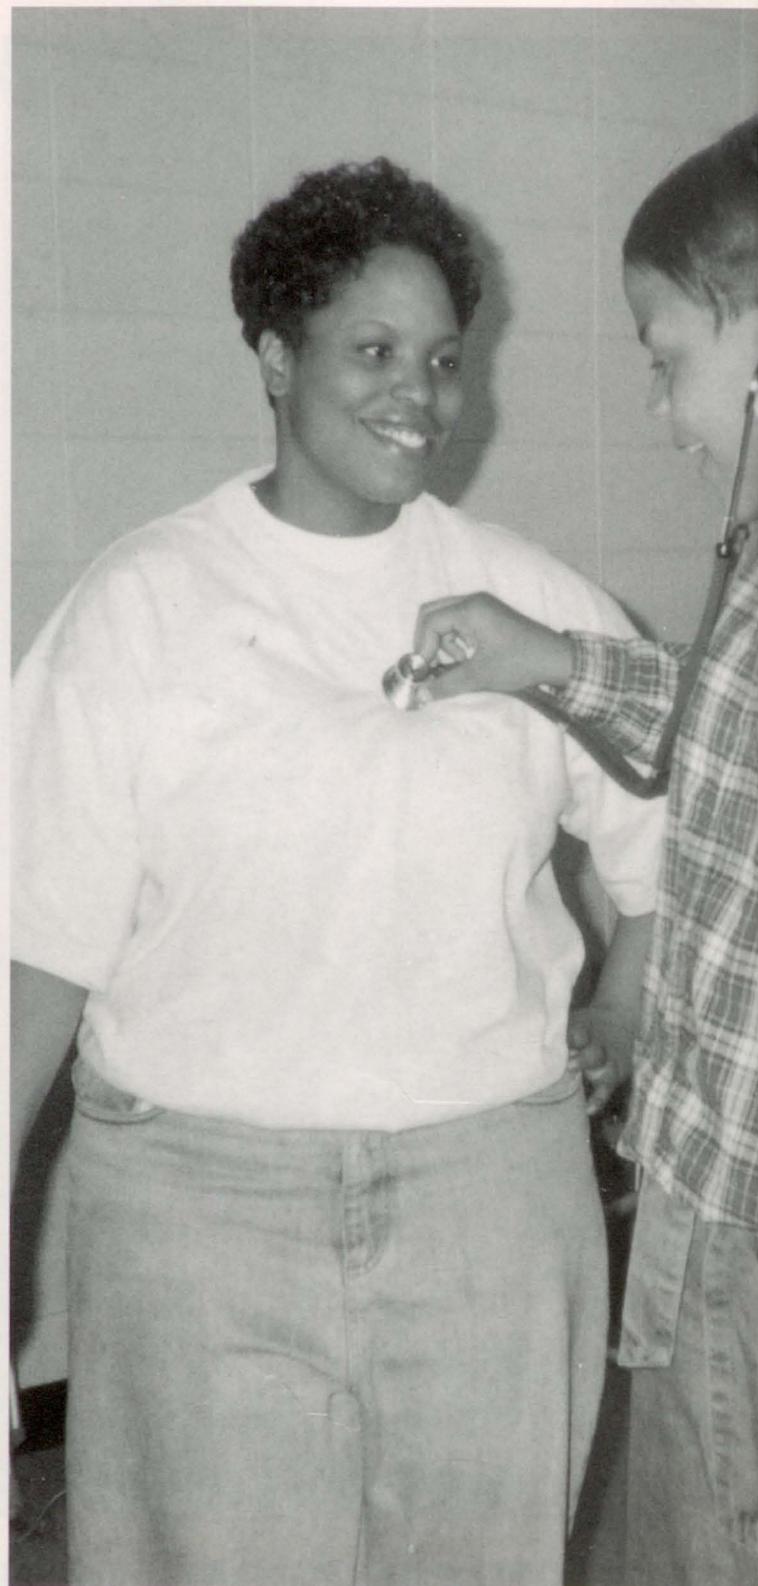

"It seems as if your heart rate is in check." Kelly Dner-son listens to Keizia Parks' heart beat.

"Your blood pressure is too high. You need to cut back on stress. Drop a few classes." Makela Foster gives Shantay Harris a little advice.

Antonio Slappy and his friend, the human body, take a break from the world of health and medicine.

please." Brandi Aaron is having trouble and Gregory Amons is quickly trying to fix the problem.

Learn How to Cure in Health Occupations Exciting Addition!

One of the most obvious additions this year is the Health Occupations curriculum and center. Students fill the newly renovated classroom complete with deluxe stethoscopes, delicate microscopes, a colorful German skeleton, a model of an eye to examine, and an ear to peer in.

Each of these tools is essential for creating a realistic learning environment.

Along with the new equipment, a new curriculum and teacher were assigned to the area. Kathy Dean is the new teacher for the Health Occupations center.

Dr. Ronald Goolsby in search of a cure.

Temarcus Cleveland was too scared to check his own blood pressure, so he used a dummies arm instead. Can he really get a reading from that?

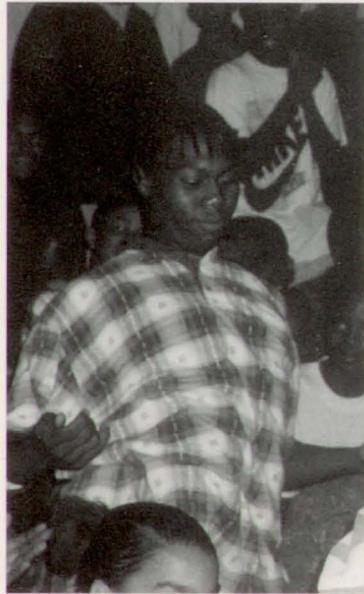

Laurie Webb and Virneca Hampton are laid back with the '96 spirit.

We can tell who went to Burger King this morning! It's just a case of that Senior Spirit.

Freshman Antonio Lawrence hittin' that Bankhead Bounce.

Corey King, Rosette Morgan, and Keshia Fleming show that clo '96' gets and deserves respect after the Pep Rally.

"One, We are the Raiders; Two, I still can't hear you ..."

It's Pep Rally Time!!

Pep Rally time is a time when every individual in the school comes together as one. This is the hypest day of Spirit Week. The purpose of the pep rally is to boost the athletic players, so that they can do a job well done. After everyone is assembled, the classes battle in speech, of course, to see who's the hypest class. This occurs often until the band starts rolling, then all props are forgotten and unity shows it's face again. Pep Rallies are Da Bomb!! And there will never be a hyper pep rally than that of Northeast High, because we're all that and then some!! And you know this MAN!

Yum, Yum I Want Some!

Lunch, a time we all look forward to Lunch is a time for rest and relaxation. It's a chance for students to get away from those long classes and to chat with their friends while they enjoy a nutritious meal. The lunch staff starts preparing lunch around 8 A.M. It takes about two to three hours to prepare lunch for an average of 500-600 students who eat. It's hard job but someone has to do it. For some students, lunch is a time for them to catch up on their homework. Since it is one of the favorite periods here at Northeast we can say it's the best relaxation of the day.

Money, money everywhere. Too bad there's none for me. One responsibility of lunch workers is balancing money collected.

Could you imagine having 1250 children. The lunch workers do. Preparing meals for 1250 students is a big task. Sometimes even they can get overwhelmed.

No Longer Cheesehound Bound

Raiders Flaunt Their New Privilege

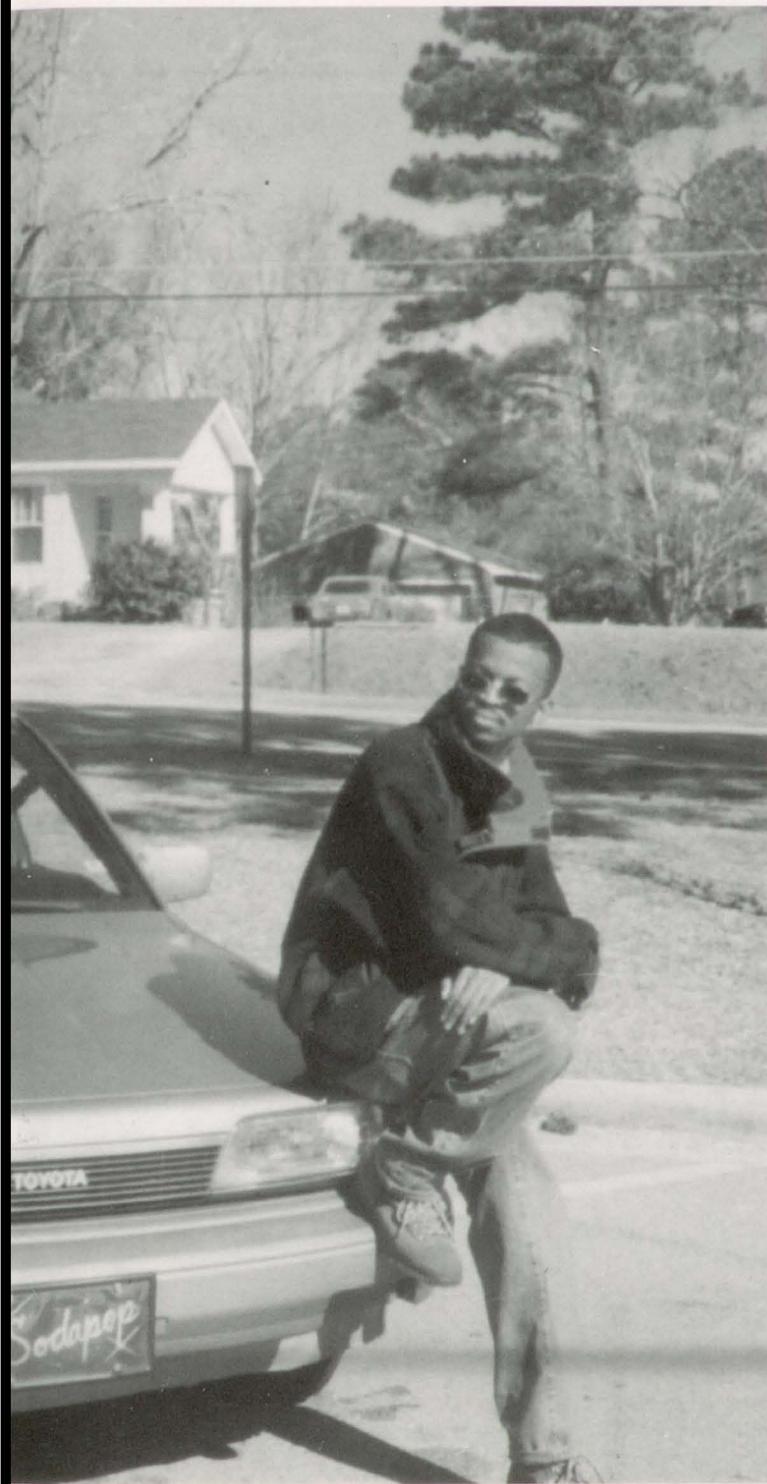

Driving to school is a privilege that we all look forward to. It gives you a chance to exert your independence and sometimes just lets you show off. At 2:15 when the bell rings, you can see the enthusiasm of the students as they rush out to the parking lot. The "cheesehounds" always seem to be faster than "Mo and Joe". While the majority of Northeast Students are still "cheesehound bound" a great number of the student body drive to school. Driving to school is indeed a privilege and a definite boost to one's social life.

Back In The Days

When We Were The Appling Panthers

It was the 1990-91 school year, and we were better known as the "rookies" because we were the 7th graders at Appling Middle School. During that year we went through many changes, especially when it came to dressing. It was the year of the Bart Simpson T-Shirts, the Patent Leather Shoes, and the decorative Wooden Necklaces, the Hammer Pants, and the Polka Dots, originated by the rapper Kwame. Music was also something you had to keep up with, if you didn't you were left in the dust. The 2 Live Crew, Candyman, Oaktown 3-5-7, B.B.D, Troop, Keith Sweat, Ice Cube, and M.C. Hammer were some of the best rappers and R&B singers back then.

When it came down to hairstyles everyone knew what the "in" styles were. Such as the High Top Fade, the High Right, Jheri Curls, and Crimps. We all had our own little "inventions" of how we fixed our hair, but when it came down to schoolwork, we were and still are achievers.

The teachers that we had, the ones who taught us to the fullest, and the ones who tried their best, we thank them for all of their hard work. All of this we learned during our first year at Appling. Our second year we were the "veterans" because we survived our first year with flying colors. It was 8th grade, and the fashion statements from last year didn't change too much, either. From the "Keep Kool Kid", to the "2 Young 2 Drink 2 Many 6 Packs", we were growing and maturing in every way.

Now its time for us to go, but the memories that we had we ought to remember and think about from time to time. Here are a few memories from Appling. ENJOY!!!

When It Comes Down To Fashion ... The Raiders Have It All!

Fashion is a part of a stylish look. It affects the way people act toward you. Fashion is a trend because it constantly changes, and if you don't keep up with the latest styles, you could be left behind. To advise you on some of the latest fashions, here are some tips on what's in and out in 95-96. What's In: Baggy Jeans, Bell Bottom Jeans, Hilfiger's, Polo's, Nautica's, and shoes such as Stacks, Nike's, Adidas, Timberland's, K-Swiss, Fila's etc. What's Out: Hi-Tech's, Dickie's, Cross Colors, Skids, L.A. Gear, Tight T-Shirts, Loose Body Shirts, and Bo-Bo's ($1.99).

Hootie and the Blowfish blew everyone away at the MTV music awards. They won the award for best new video for "Hold My Hand." The band, lead by Darius Rucker, is a southern band that literally topped the charts in a matter of months.

Music

Who's In, Who's Out

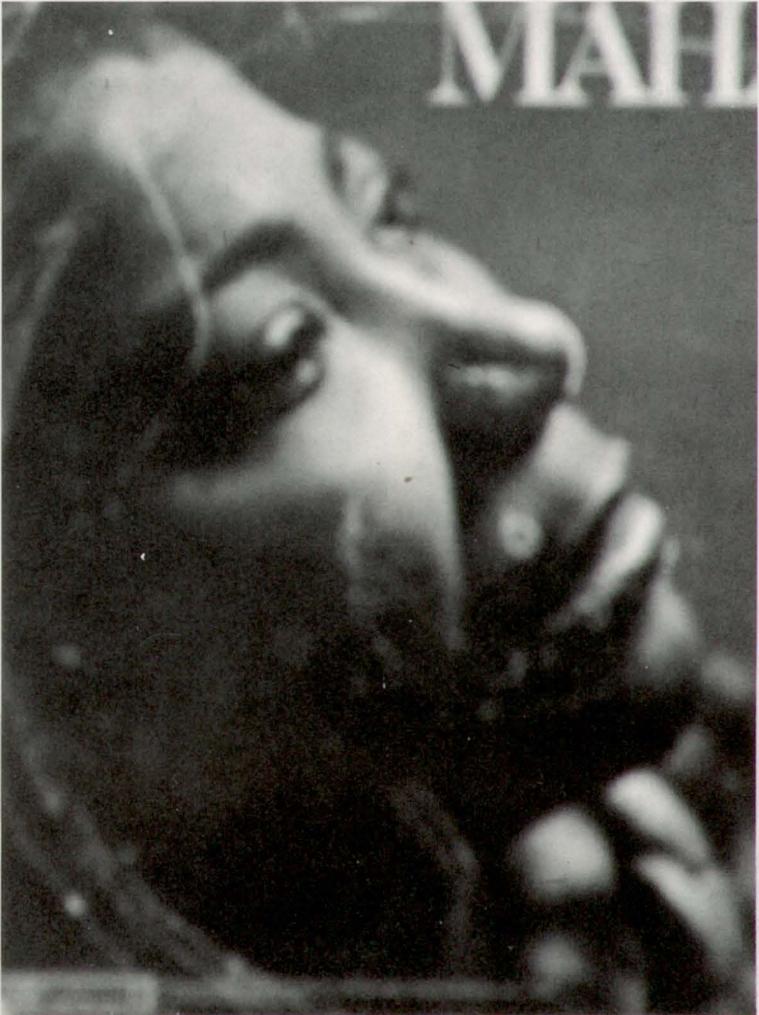

Music is the art of organizing sound. Whether it be vocal or instrumental, it changes continuously. You never know what direction music will go in. There are many artists who determine the future of music. There are some good and bad ones. There are some that are more experienced than others. Here are some commonly heard among the students of Northeast High School.

Who's In & Out In: Gospel,

Sweethearts

Students Enjoy Each Others Company

In a relationship that isn't going anywhere? Here is advice from some of Northeast's top couples on what it takes to make a relationship survive.

Brandy Hill and Terrance Butler junior/senior

relationship has lasted 2 and a half years

"The thing that makes our relationship so special is that we are open with each other and we can talk out our problems. We don't hold anything back and the advice that we would like to give other couples is to be honest, don't try to be somebody you're not, and look out for each other's needs because there are a lot of things going around and you need to stay true to one person."

Shawanda Chappell and James Kellam

relationship has lasted 1 year 8 and a half months

"The things that makes our relationship so special is that he's sweet to me and I'm sweet to him. The advice we would like to give other couples is if you find somebody you really love stay with that person, be honest with them, and you will have a nice relationship."

Michelle Humphrey and Gregory Dinkins senior/senior

relationship has lasted 1 and a half years

"The key to a relationship is honesty and friendship. The advice that we would give other couples is to be friends first, trust each other, and have fun together."

Latarsha Hughes and Atari Hill junior/junior

relationship has lasted 5 months

"The thing that makes our relationship so special is that we understand each other and we're best friends. In a relationship you have to be more than just lovers, you have to be friends and understand more in everything that you go through. And if you have a problem you should be able to sit down and talk about it. Our advice is if you ever have a problem, sit down and talk about it instead of just breaking up."

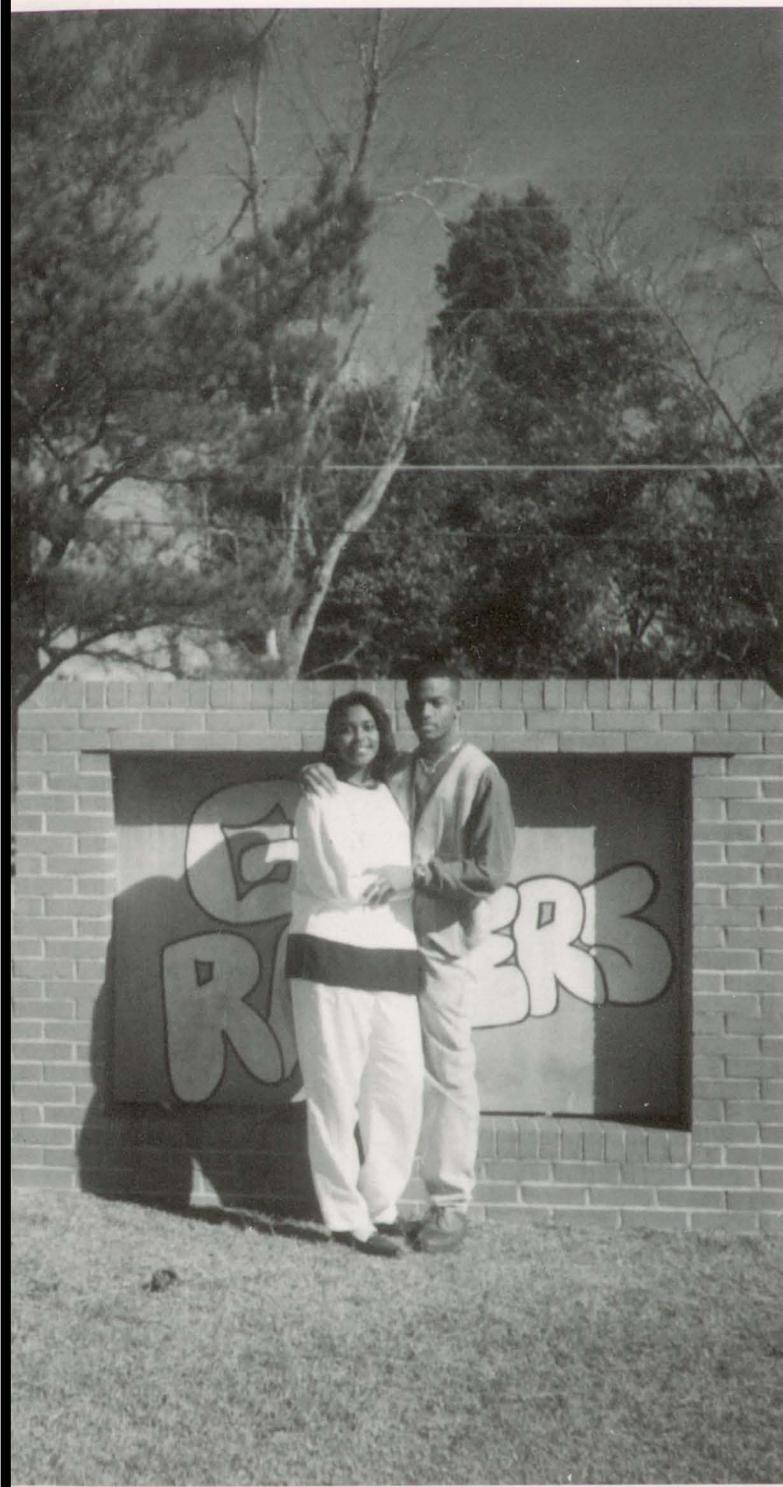

by Dionne Benjamin

Daphne Zellner and Sharmia Sanders will always be best friends.

Renae Sinclair and Larry Bell have a special relationship.

Letisha Glover and Xavier Tharpe have been together since middle school and are still together. Is that the sound of wedding bells we hear?

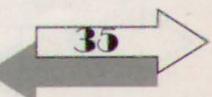

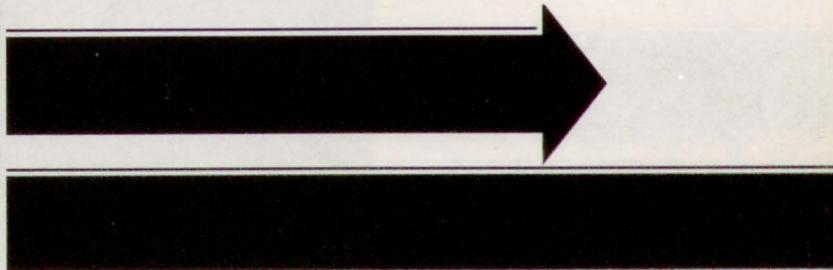

Michelle Humphrey and Gregory Dinkins are examples of two people working together to make it last.

Courtney Brown and Kizzie Rivers agree it's more than just "puppy love."

Ronette Lucas and Jay Johnson are the perfect Junior-Senior couple.

We're Tired of Getting a Bad Rep!

Students Speak Out

When Northeast is mentioned to some, the first thing that comes to mind is that it's a bad school where no one learns.

A contributing part of the problem is the lack of student involvement in school or extracurricular activities. The solution? Part of the solution would be getting more students involved in school activities like the Prayer Club or Journalism and inviting friends to join. This could be a great start in bringing better, more positive attention to Northeast. Doing this is essential if we ever want to change the stereotype, if not prejudiced name Northeast seems to have gained.

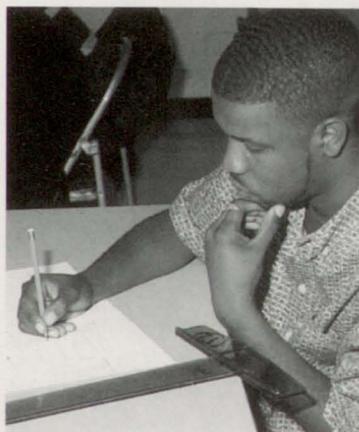

"Showing the media and all of Bibb County that Northeast produces students just as smart or smarter than some of the other schools will help end the doubtful if not biased opinions about this school," one student stated. On the other hand, others feel that things are looking up for Northeast. Beginning this year, Northeast is a magnet school. This conversion will attract many promising students and hopefully, in time, will deter some of the bad press and ideas about our school.

I would like to challenge each Raider and Raiderette to achieve a higher standard of excellence in academics and a renewed sense of pride to make our school the most revered high school, not just in Bibb County, but the entire state of Georgia.

by Adrian Watson

"Now, how is it that I create perspective and space?" Eddie Bostic knows that the only way to draw in perspective freehand is to practice with rulers first.

Aren't they sweet? Students enjoy spending time socializing during breaks.

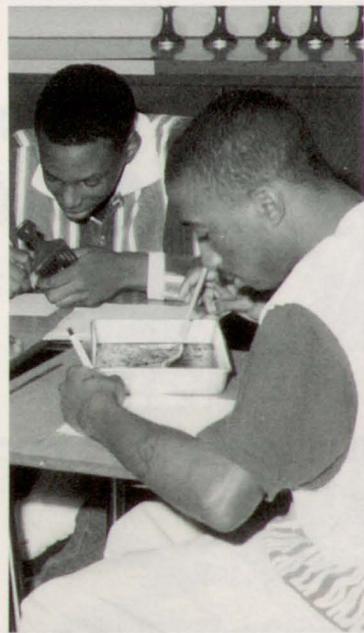

After a long second half lunch break, Myrain Brezial and his trusty sidekick, Demetrius Pitts hang out until the bell rings for fifth period.

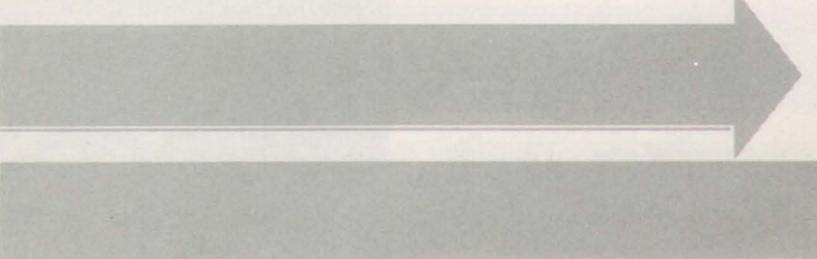

"Angela Slagle, what's so funny?" Miranda Billue asks. Part of being on Valhalla staff is selling ads and books during every free time.

Hidden deep within a dissecting tray lives the wonderful world of biology. Deon McKay enjoys class and dissecting, as long as it's after lunch.

Bien Venito! Students share their experiences when going International

How very lucky we are to have so many international students and so many students going international. One of the most positive experiences for students is appreciating and experiencing the cultures around them. Several of our students are from other countries.

When asked how they feel about the USA, many respond with positive comments. It seems that the famous reputation of southern hospitality has not been disproved.

We have risen to the occasion of hosting international students.

But international students are not the only ones experiencing different cultures. Several students have had the pleasure of traveling abroad through ministry or vacations.

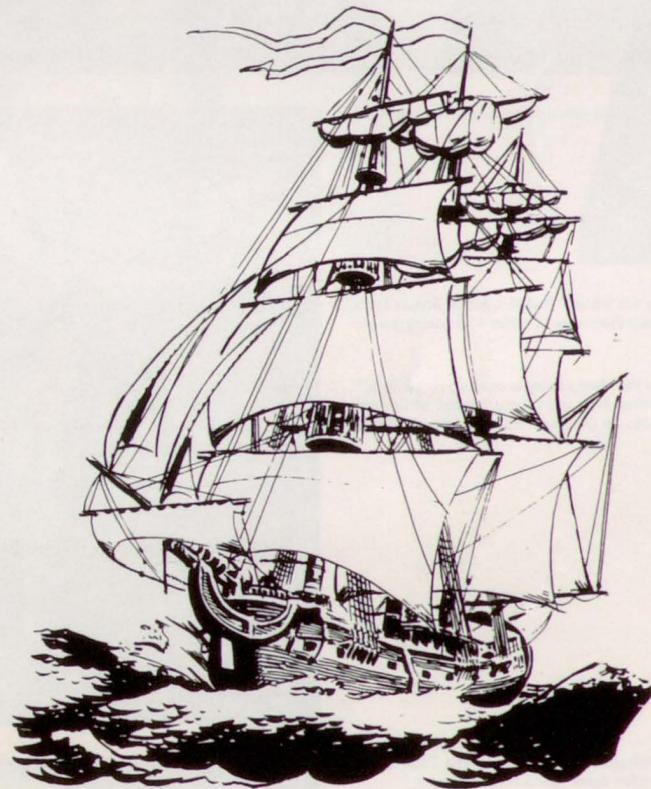

Muhammed Ali, from Guyane, is never too busy to pose for a photo.

"So sue me! I need a break from my hectic schedule." Piotr Zazieborski, from Poland, is caught napping during class. Dealing with Americans can be a tiring ordeal.

Cal Ripken's Streak

from the Associated Press

For months, baseball fans were talking about The Streak. With each game he played, Baltimore Orioles shortstop Cal Ripken Jr. drew one game closer to breaking one of baseball's "unbreakable" records.

In 1939, Yankee first-baseman Lou Gehrig retired after having appeared in 2, 130 consecutive games, an accomplishment that surely would never be equalled.

In 1995, Ripken not only equalled it—he surpassed it!

On September 6, 1995, Ripken took the field, as he had done in every Orioles game since May 30, 1982, to play against the California Angles. This was consecutive game 2, 131—but not until the fifth inning when baseball games became official.

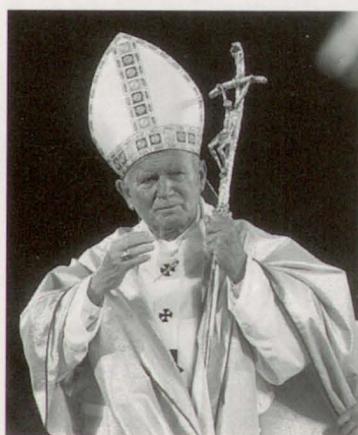

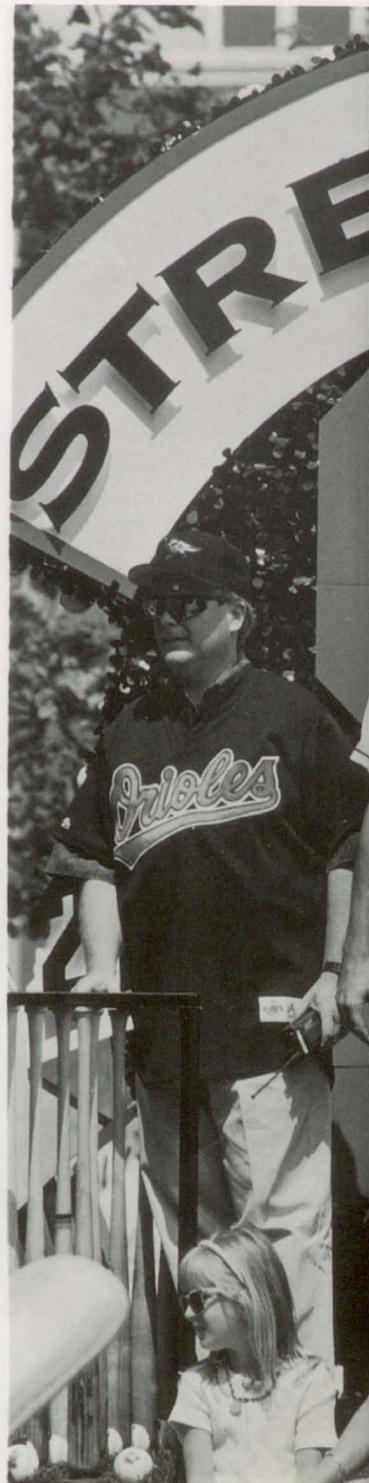

Pope John Paul II, the 75-year-old pontiff began his five-day visit by addressing the United Nations General Assembly in conjunction with the organization's 50th anniversary.

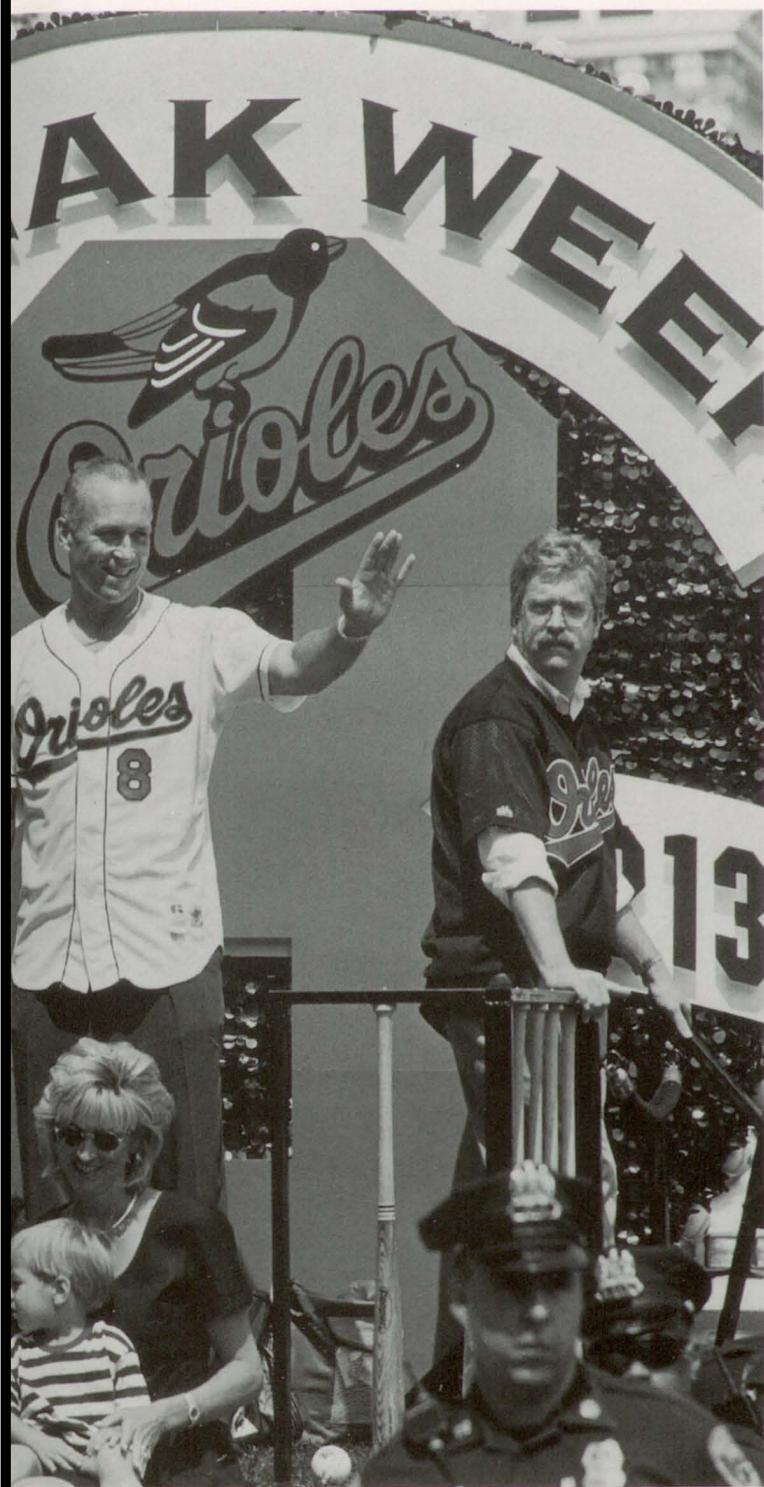

On August 24, 1995, human rights activist Harry Wu set foot on American soil after being imprisoned in China for 66 days. He was convicted on charges of stealing state secrets and was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

When the fifth inning came, fireworks exploded and cameras flashed, as 10-foot banners bearing "2 - 1- 3 -1" were unfurled in the outfield stands of Baltimore's Camden Yards.

The fans stood and cheered for Ripken, who emerged from the dugout and gave his Jersey to his wife and two children. His teammates pushed the reluctant Ripken back out onto the field where he made a "thank you" lap around the ballpark, shaking hands with the fans. The ovation lasted 22 minutes.

Befitting a hero, Ripken hit a home run in the game won by the Orioles 4 - 2.

Shortstop for the Baltimore Orioles, Cal Ripkin, broke the record set by Lou Gehrig for the most consecutive games played.

On September 9, 1995, Germany's Steffi Graf emerged as #1 as she beat Monica Seles to win her fourth U.S. Open title.

The Cleveland Indians and the Atlanta Braves squared off in the first World Series in two years.

The Braves won the Series in six games, after taking a two games-to-none lead in their home park. They won the Series on their return to Atlanta with a 1-0 victory marked by David Justice's home run and the one-hit pitching on Tom Glavine, who was named Series MVP.

On September 5, 1995, first lady Hillary Clinton delivered a speech at the World Conference on Women in Beijing, China. Her speech made a call for human rights and freedom of expression.

The conference platform called for measures to alleviate women's poverty, and improve health care, job opportunities and education.

Hurricane Opal Devastates the Panhandle

from the Associated Press

On the evening of October 4, 1995, Hurricane Opal came ashore on Florida's Gulf Coast, packing sustained winds of 125 miles per hour. Before it was through, the storm had killed at least 20 people in four states and caused at least $1.8 billion in damages to insured properties, making it the third-costliest storm in U. S. history.

Hurricane Opal swung east toward Florida after striking Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula.

The storm destroyed or damaged thousands of homes and businesses along a 120-mile stretch of the Florida Panhandle. Many of its residents were still recovering from and repairing damage inflicted by Hurricane Erin two months earlier.

On September 5, 1995, France resumed underground testing when it detonated a device under a remote atoll in the South Pacific.

Anti-nuclear demonstrations were staged in various parts of the world, including Paris, Tokyo, Switzerland, Australia, and Hiroshima.

In May 1995, NATO planes attacked Serb ammunition depots. The Serbs responded by attacking "safe areas," killing many and taking hundreds of U.N. peacekeepers hostages.

In June, Serbs downed a U.S.F-16 over northern Bosnia. The Air Force Captain Scott O'Grady, hid for six days until he was rescued by U. S. Marines.

Opal caused the sea to rise 15 feet and sweep away nearly everything on the lower floors of homes and businesses along the edge of the Gulf Coast. Power outages were widespread, and there were many incidents of looting.

Some of the hurricane's victims were allowed to return home a week after fleeing, even though water, electricity and sewer services had not been restored. Others, from more severely damaged areas, had to wait longer.

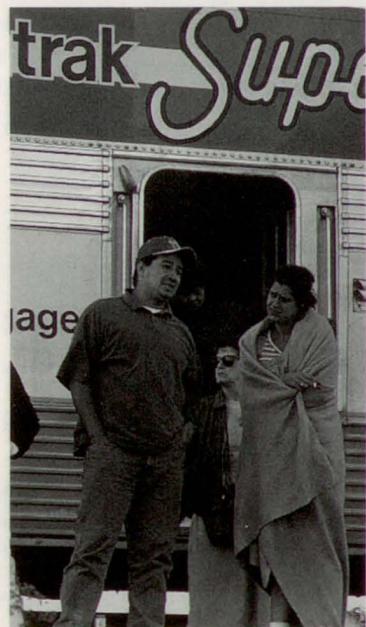

Hurricane Opal destroyed thousands of homes and businesses causing an estimated $1.8 billion in damages.

"The sight you see before you...was impossible, was unthinkable, just three years ago," Israel's Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin stated.

The "sight" was the September 28, 1995, signing of an accord between Israel and the PLO that would end Israel's military occupation of the West Bank cities.

Rabin was assassinated by a Jewish extremist in Israel on Saturday, November 4, 1995.

An Amtrak train derailed while crossing a trestle in a remote desert region of Arizona, 55 miles southwest of Phoenix.

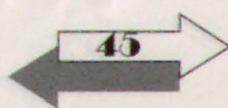

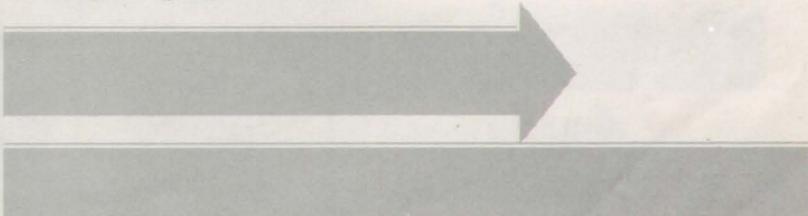

The derailment was caused by the removal of a metal bar that held two sections of rail together. The saboteur's apparent knowledge about the warning system led to speculation that it might be the work of a railroad employee.

On April 19, 1995, a car bomb exploded in Oklahoma City, destroying the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building and killing scores of men, women, and young children.

Timothy McVeigh, a Gulf War veteran was arrested for carrying a concealed weapon. Two days later, he was recognized as one of the bombing suspects and was charged.

McVeigh's trial is pending.

African-American Men Join the Million Man March

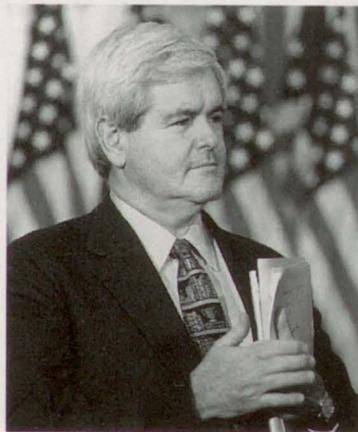

from The Associated Press

The gathering in Washington, D. C. on October 16, 1995, was tremendous. Hundreds of thousands of African-American men converged on the nation's capital in response to the call from Louis Farrakhan, the Nation of Islam's leader, to rally for unity and brotherhood.

It was the fourth-largest demonstration in Washington's history, and the largest predominantly African-American gathering.

There were dozens of speakers, including civil rights veteran Rosa Parks, Dick Gregory and the Reverend Jesse Jackson. Stevie Wonder sang, and Maya Angelou read a poem that urged the men to do right by themselves and "save your race."

The rally's climax was Farrakhan's speech in which he led the men in a pledge to "never raise my hand with a knife or gun, to beat, cut or shoot... any human being." He urged the rally to join organizations, gain political control, fight racism and rid their neighborhoods of crime, drugs and violence.

In January 1995, Newt Gingrich became the first Republican Speaker of the House in 40 years. The 51-year-old Georgia Congressman had his sights set on this position even before he won a House seat on his third try in 1976.

In September, 1995, Colin Powell embarked on a cross-country book tour to promote his autobiography, "My American Journey."

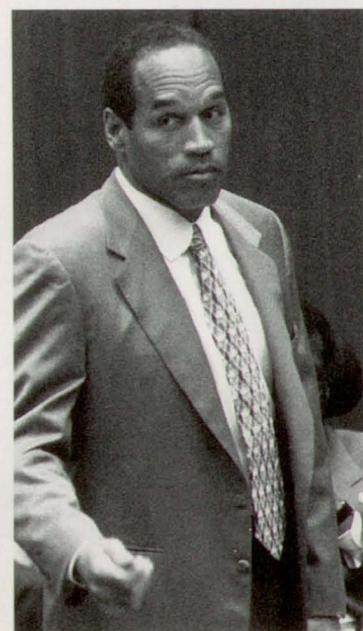

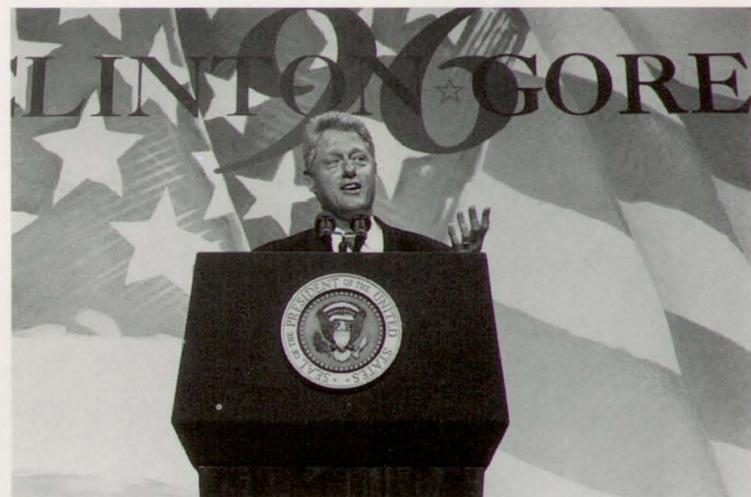

Powell, 58 years old, is the former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the first African-American person to hold that position.

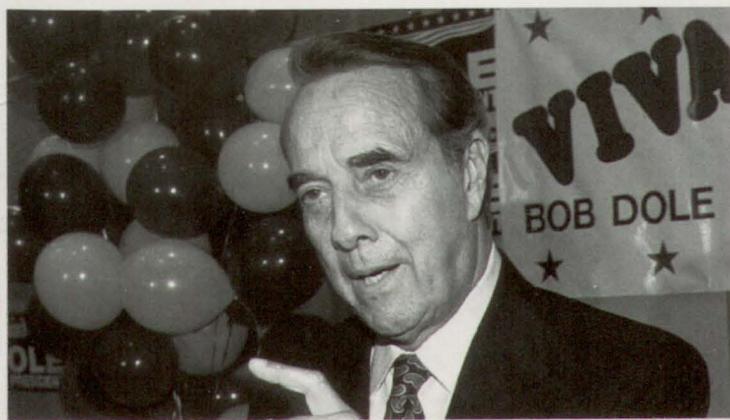

Hundreds of thousands of men gathered in Washington, D.C. for the first Million Man March.

On April 14, 1995, President Bill Clinton filed the necessary documents with Federal Election Commission and made formal his candidacy for re-election.

In "the trial of the century," O. J. Simpson was acquitted in the June 12, 1994, stabbing murder of his former wife, Nicole Brown Simpson, and her friend, Ronald Goldman.

In April 1995, Bob Dole became the sixth Republican to formally declare his candidacy for a move to the White House.

Introducing the Leaders

The events at Northeast create an image for those that are not directly involved with the school. This year Northeast has had the benefits of many changes that create a positive image making the Raiders sparkle.

"Why sparkle?" you ask. Because of the acquisition of $2.6 million, Northeast has been converted to a health science magnet school complete with new laboratory equipment, computers, and updated software all of which help the leaders become leaders.

So then, it makes sense that, due to the Raiders' new image, we must use the next 23 pages introducing the leaders.

by L'Vetius Perry

"Don't hate us because we're stylish."

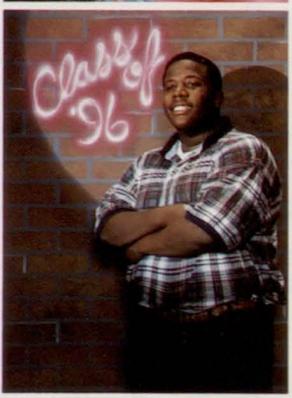

"I'll go to class, just as soon as you take my picture." There's one thing that all Raiders have in common. None of us are camera shy, isn't that right Contrell Scott?

"Do you think she knows I'm sleeping?" Sometimes even students need a break from the demands of school.

Intimidating glares from Al Lucas and William Cole ward off any evil spirits that may dampen pride during spirit week. Part of being a senior is keeping up the Raider pride among fellow students.

"Mmm, mmm, good!" says Decarlos Latimore. Unlike other classes, the seniors know how to make it to lunch on time to enjoy a hot meal.

Being a senior doesn't mean you have to grow up. Tracy Smith dresses in character for Mrs. Fultz's English class.

Good-Bye

Although soon we must say goodbye

Our love and friendship will never die.

Four years now we've been together.

Friendships formed that'll last forever.

Soon we'll part and go our different ways

Always remembering our high school days.

It is so hard for us to go.

Other friendships we'll sow.

We'll remember our times of red,
black, and gold

Those memories tight we will hold.

No way those days can we replace

But graduation and college we now face

As our high school lives come to their ends

We'll remember those days, the fun and our friends.

All smiles, the seniors show off their anticipated graduation by wearing senior shirts at the Homecoming pep rally.

Who are those two strong men walking down the breezeway? Why, it's William Cole and Xena Thomas on their way to class. Seniors, rain or shine are never late for class.

Seniors are both studious and responsible. Ronald Pittman works on last minute details before turning in almost impeccable homework.

Seniors Work Harder for Future Goals

This is our final dwelling place. It's been a long ride. I can't believe that we've made it through thirteen years of school. I have to say it's really been a successful journey. But, it's not over. The fun and hard work have just begun. The time has come for us to put all unimportant things aside and get busy.

We're headed for the real world now. One preparation is applying to colleges. Seniors, and in some cases juniors, took the SAT, ACT, and PSAT in hopes of high scores for their applications. Seniors write essays, resumes, papers, and speeches all in hopes of impressing college entrance committees. Some are busy going to armed forces recruiting officers. Some apply to technical schools. This is the last year for seniors to cram extracurricular activities into busy schedules. The more on a resume, the better.

Seniors also take part time jobs to help pay for all important events and paraphernalia like class rings, class memory books, the yearbook, class pictures, and the senior trip. A senior is always in demand of money and always out of money.

But, even with the extra expenses of being seniors, the final year of high school is by far the most memorable. Seniors work hard for one goal, walking across the stage and receiving diplomas.

Richelle Williams uses her trusty Woodstock earmuffs to protect her ears from the cold.

Exhausted from the duties of being the editor-in-chief of the Golden Star, Octavia Carner takes a quick nap before posing for superlative pictures.

Seniors take care of each other. Tuquester Carlisle helps Jermaine Davis look his best, even if it is just for class.

Dedication To The Seniors Of 1996!

For 3 years we've waited to get our foot in the door and that wait has come to an end. We The Class of 1996 have had many ups and downs but we made it through.

During our Freshman year you "Couldn't Stop Us," this slogan fit us perfectly because during our first year up here on "the hill" we interacted with one another especially the seniors (c/o 93'). When we were Sophomores we were "In Knee Deep", meaning that we didn't consider ourselves to be the dreaded underclassmen people perceived us to be. When we became Juniors, "You Couldn't Tell Us A Thing", because we were on our way to the top, we were the ones who were in charge. And now that we are Seniors it is a definite must that you "Follow The Leaders", the one and only class - The Class of 96'.

We reached the goal of trying to be the superb role model of the underclassmen. If you like it or not, its time for us to go out into the real world and accept our own responsibilities. All the good times that we had will not be forgotten but will linger on in Northeast's halls forever. The members of the 96' Class will be determined not to lose contact with one another because of the memories of past days.

Seniors who plan on going straight to college, good luck, those who plan on going into the military, good luck, and those who plan on chilling at home for a while, much respect. For those college and military bound persons, may your wishes and dreams come true and always reach for the top because the bottom is definitely full. To the others who plan on staying home for a little while, don't turn your stay into a permanent one, because if there is a certain job that you want, that pays well, and gives good benefits, you have to have more than just a high school diploma nowadays. So get all the rest that you can and then when you're ready, go out and further your education just a little bit more. This is one of the most important times in our lives when we have to start making decisions in what we say and do. The Class of 1996! Our Future Has Come!

Diligently at work producing the yearbook, Marcia Waller types one of her many articles in the yearbook.

Chillin' at the pep rally, senior Lauri Webb asks "what more could you ask for in a senior?"

Friends are part of a senior's life at Northeast. Between classes, Stephanie Smith and Fatisha Paul catch up on the latest gossip.

Shikima Hammonds shouts her Raider pride during the first pep rally. Juniors are known for boisterously announcing their school spirit.

Juniors Carry Their Spirit Everywhere

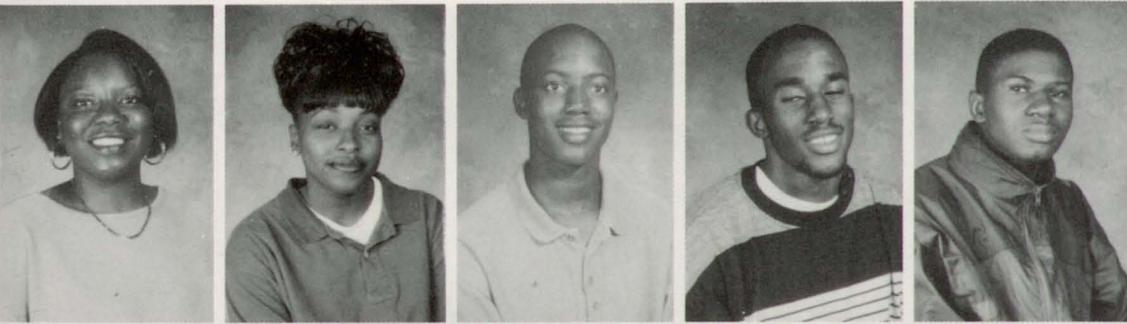

Juniors are not afraid to show their pride in Northeast. They bring the N.H.S spirit everywhere they go. They volunteer in the community. Hold down jobs after school. That pride helps employers like Walmart, K-Mart, Burger-King, Kroger, Foodmax and McDonalds who keep the juniors working hard after school. Pep rallies are the largest display of Junior spirit. Rowdy Seniors, loud Sophomores and even Freshmen try to impress, but it's the Juniors who can make the noise. Juniors carry their spirit everywhere, but as the year comes to an end the spirit turns into Senior pride.

Juniors Anticipate Their Senior Year

With one year to go, the Juniors are the most excited of the underclassmen. They have a lot to look forward to like Senior trip, Senior Week, Senior Cut Day, the Prom, and of course Graduation!

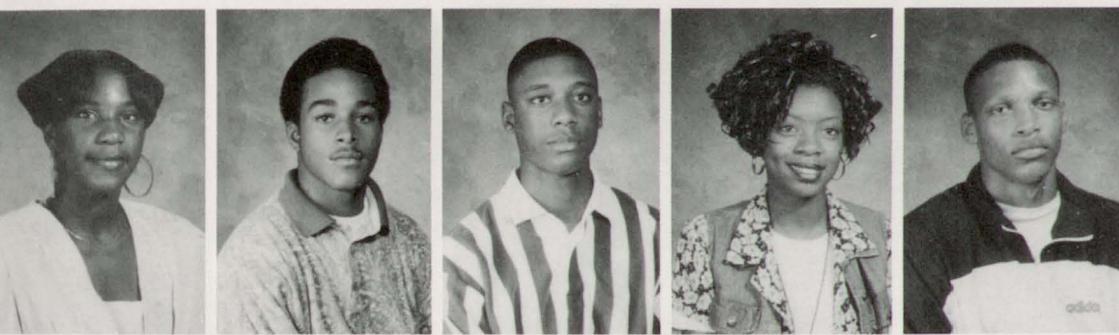

However, being a Junior doesn't mean just fun and frolic. Juniors also have to anticipate the SAT, college applications, job resumes, jobs, voting, the Georgia High School Graduation Test, and of course GRADUATION!

When asked how she viewed the coming year Sylvia Glover proudly boasted that she was ready for whatever her Senior year has in store. In fact, most Juniors seem comfortable with the idea of added responsibility.

Step Up..Step Up.. You're a Sophomore Now

Being a Sophomore is great step up from being a Freshman. It feels great returning to school knowing your way around and finally getting your chance to harass the freshmen. Harder classes and the beginning of real responsibilities mark the year for most students. To some students their sophomore year is the most challenging, because you're not yet an upper-classman and you're not really an underclassmen. But at least it's a step in the right direction. By Miranda Billue.

Welcome Freshman, Class of "99"

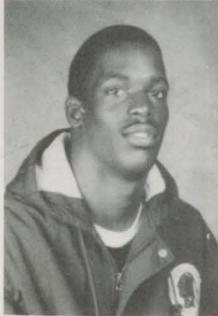

Welcome class of 1999. You have crossed a major bridge in your life. Freshman, it's time to get a move on. No more waking up at 8:00 to be a school at 9:00. No more easy grades, or easy teachers. You're in HIGH SCHOOL now. Don't worry, just follow the leader, they'll show you how it's done. It's not going to be easy, finding your class let alone getting to them on time. As you take the first step of the rest of your life, remember what you do now will determine your success at Northeast, and beyond. Don't be afraid, upperclassmen don't bite. At least most of them don't. Someone will always be there to answer your question or point you in the right direction. Have your fun now, because soon enough you'll be a sophomore. By Marcia Waller

Freshman Are United With Northeast Family

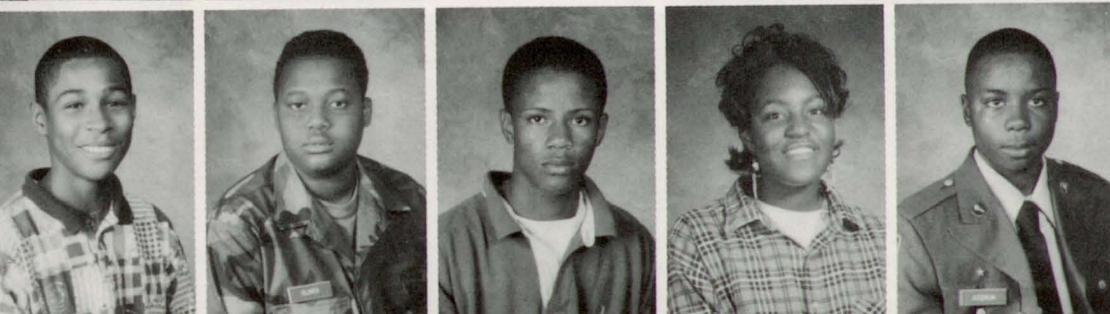

The class of 1999 has united with rest of the family at Northeast High School. The 1996 school year has brought a rush of students with excited faces, new ideas, leaders, and bright ideas. These ideas have helped to make this a successful school year. Many times it is thought that freshmen are too new and do not contribute much to a school. However, that is not true. Each individual student provides helpful suggestions not only to other students, but to teachers and administrators as well. All the freshmen are willing to work hard and make their future success at

Northeast High School their most memorable teenage years. By Davonia Henley\

Freshman, Going From the Top to the Bottom

It's only been a few months ago when they were the "top cats" at Appling Middle School, now they have to start all over from the bottom of the class steps. Being a freshman is tough! Nobody knows who you are. It's like being an employee at a new job. The freshman really do admire the upper-classmen. Pay attention freshmen, everyone had to start at the bottom to get to the top regardless of who they are or where they come from. So be patient you will have your year of honor. The class of 1999 is as special as you can make it. Always try to earn that

Freshmen Getting New Freedoms

It's your first year as a freshmen, but in all cases, it still may be your happiest year. During your freshman year, you have many responsibilities. You have to know which classes to take to meet the requirements for graduation. You must attend classes daily and also get an early start on college. No longer do you have to follow the teacher to the lunchroom, and no longer do you have to stay in a single file line to change classes. When you enter high school things definitely do change. By Shaunelle Brezial.

FRESHMEN SIGNATURES

One of the most exciting times in high school is graduation. But what about your first year? Use this space to collect all of the names of those in your class to remember your first year.

Terrance Waller finds some peace outside during lunch.

Freshmen Snapshots

Freshmen are seldom known to be quiet, but with intimidating seniors at the base of the gym during the pep rally, they are quiet as mice.

"Ben Hubbard, don't try to wake it up! It's only a dummy." In Mrs. Sikes health class, students were given the opportunity to learn CPR.

Mia Braswell, E'Yunni Hill, and Quida Daniels play with pride for their team. Who says freshwomen don't get involved?

"Pick up the pace people!" Laurie Webb works hard at organizing the band. After several days of practice, the Jazzettes look great!

Sometimes even hard workers have to alleviate stress. The Golden Star staff takes everything out on Corey King.

Organizing Leaders

Every school should have something to offer besides the basic curriculum. That's what makes school a fun, learning experience. Northeast High School offers a wide variety of clubs and different organizations to keep the students interested. For students who are interested in a vocational career, there is Drama Club, FFA, FHA, DECA, and FBLA. There are also academic clubs: TAPS, Band, Science Club (which also has a Science Bowl Team), Chorus, Beta Club, Math Team, French Club, and Spanish Club. Teachers that sponsor these clubs and organizations make sure that students get a taste of the real world before time comes to face it. Students must realize that school can be fun, you just have to get organized and get involved to help yourself into the future.

By Marcia Waller

"Wait, slow down! You're talking too fast!" Newspaper Staff member Adrienna Gibbs frantically takes notes from Diane Rankin while visiting The Macon Telegraph.

Sporting Leaders

Can you play an instrument, sing in the chorus, or march in the band? You probably can, but there are some who say that sports are the only way to go.

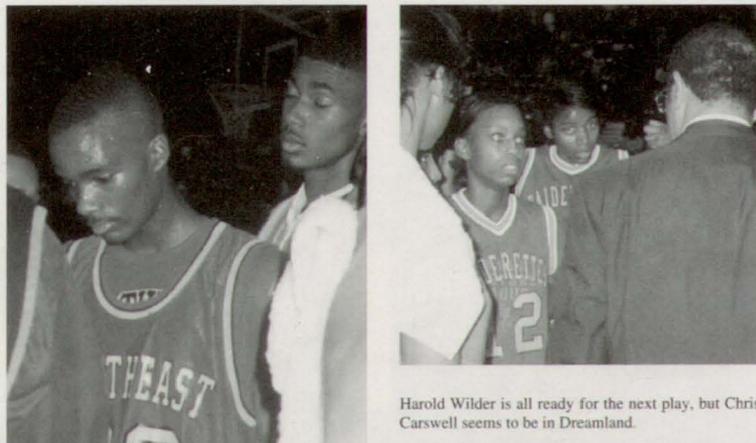

From basketball to soccer, there is always a sport for everyone. Maybe you can't play these competitive games, but you can appreciate those who do. Whatever the game, wherever the tournament, one thing is sure...these are Sporting Leaders

VICTORY

The Raiderettes recorded a lot of them this season. They posted the best record ever in school history. The Raiderettes tied for the sub-region title only to lose a heartbreaker in the region tournament. The Raiderettes were led by a few seniors this season but the base of the team were freshmen. The talent and desire to win in this team will make them even better next season. With the experience they gained this year under their belt they could be in competition for a state title before the class of 1999 graduates.

DISTANCE

The key in running cross country is the ability to run long distances. There are only select group of athletes that can long distance. The only way you can be a success is to train vigorously. The Raider cross country team trains hard all year round. They run, lift weights, and eat healthy. Under the guidance of Coach Copeland the Raiders have firm foundation for a winning tradition. The Raiders do exactly that. They consistently place in the top three in team competition. The Northeast raider cross country track team is in fact a leader.

The Raider wrestling team has a reputation of being a contender everytime they walk on the mat. They always field a good team. Coach Persley has more than a few years experience as a coach. They also do well during the regular season as well. No one seems to be able to hold the Raiders back. They pin their ways to wins.

BULLSEYE!

The Northeast rifle team is on the mark. This year's team is founded on experience with three seniors on the team. They also have depth with a core of new freshman. The Raider baseball team is a hit. They are leaders in the city. They can hit run and throw. No team in the area can beat the Raiders when they want to win. The team has a variety of ages. They have a solid base of veterans but they also have a young rookies coming up. The addition of a new assistant coach will only improve the Raiders ability to win. This season great things are expected of the Raiders.

PRIDE!

Pride! The one thing that runs deep in Raider football. This season there were a lot highs and lows for the Northeast football team. Head Coach Steve Edwards lead the Raiders to a 5-5 record this season. The record in no way reflects the quality of Raider football. Five members of the team have already signed scholarships.

The season started good with a win over Mays. The Raiders in the next few weeks with loses to Southwest, Central, Warner Robins, and Evans. So at the midpoint of the season with a record of 1-4 the Raiders set a goal. With a renewed desire to win the Raiders came out to win. Win is exactly what they did. They went to Lakeside and beat them in the first game in their new stadium. The Raiders came back to Macon to beat Southeast. They suffered a shocking loss to Butler in the last minute of the game a very wet sloppy game in Augusta. The Raiders upset Northside of Warner Robins. That win over Northside was the first for a Macon football team since 1991. They came out the week of the season to play Baldwin. The Raiders gave the fans one more show for homecoming. The Raiders Beat Baldwin to make their record 5-5. The Raider football team made a great comeback to show everyone just how much PRIDE they had.

Caught red handed. Sometimes even teachers need to get away from everything, especially students.

Mrs. Duhart, this is 1995, not 1975. During Spirit Week even teachers get in the Raider spirit. Neidra Duhart dressed up for oldies day.

Teaching the Leaders

I think my teacher sleeps at my school.
I wonder if this is breaking any rule?

I think my teacher owes the school rent.
Teacher was there when I came.
And there when I went.

-Jane Johnson

Although it's not true that teachers sleep at school, it is true that school is a teacher's second home. Teachers are more than just instructors. They are law enforcers, confidants, counselors, parents, friends, and leaders.

There are no better people suited to lead Raiders on their journeys into the real world.

One characteristic of the teachers at our school is that they are definitely qualified, talented, and concerned enough to be teaching the leaders.

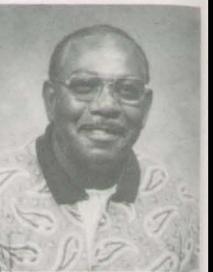

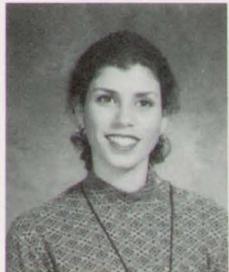

"Got an aspirin?" One of the many occupational hazards of being a teacher is recurring headaches. Spanish teacher, Cathy Bernat is no exception.

"Of course I have time for one more task." Is it true that teachers live at school? As Georgann Reaves shows, English teachers are constantly under a mound of papers, leaving them no time for much of anything else.

Counseling is one of the foremost duties of teaching. Dionne Benjamin knows that Mr. Ikner never minds discussing current events or concerns with students.

Administration

"Please remove yourselves from the hall ladies." "Oh I'm sorry Maria Kowalewski, I thought you were a student." Bessie Brown says to her. One of the pains of being a young teacher, is looking so young that even administration doesn't recognize you.

"Sorry for the interruption, but these are your morning announcements." Mrs. Saxby and Eileen Bell keep us up to date with what's to come ahead.

"Good Morning, Northeast High School." Who's cheery voice is that on the phone? Why, it's Johnnie Stafford's, Mark Smith secretary.

The Root Of Northeast

We at Northeast Health Science Magnet High School believe that the high school experience should serve as a launching ground for the rest of each student's life. Striving to offer a myriad of opportunities to develop knowledge, wisdom, skill, and personal confidence, Northeast High School seeks to offer an effective, quality educational program that corresponds to each student's needs, abilities, ambitions, and possibilities. This year has been one of great accomplishment in many areas. We are most thrilled to announce the awarding of a federal grant in the amount of 2.46 million dollars for the implementation of our Health Science Magnet Program. Science and Mathematics teachers are receiving ongoing staff development in state of the art technology to prepare our students for post-secondary education and the work force. Renovated science, math, health occupations and language labs enhance instruction in all academic disciplines. We are proud of the performance of our Academic Team, Salmagundi literary magazine, the Golden Star newspaper, our athletic teams, Miss Northeast participants, Miss Valhalla contestants, the Diplomats and other clubs and organizations that exemplify our ideal. We applaud the efforts of the Valhalla staff to memorialize this year in pictures.

It has been said that "Success is the progressive realization of worthwhile goals." Our supreme goal is to be the school of What's happening NOW! NOW in academics, NOW in technology, NOW in athletics and extracurricular activities, and NOW in service to students and the community. Our success is your success.
by Cindy Gibson

An administrator's work is never done! New to our school, Cindy Gibson has proven to be nothing short than dedicated.

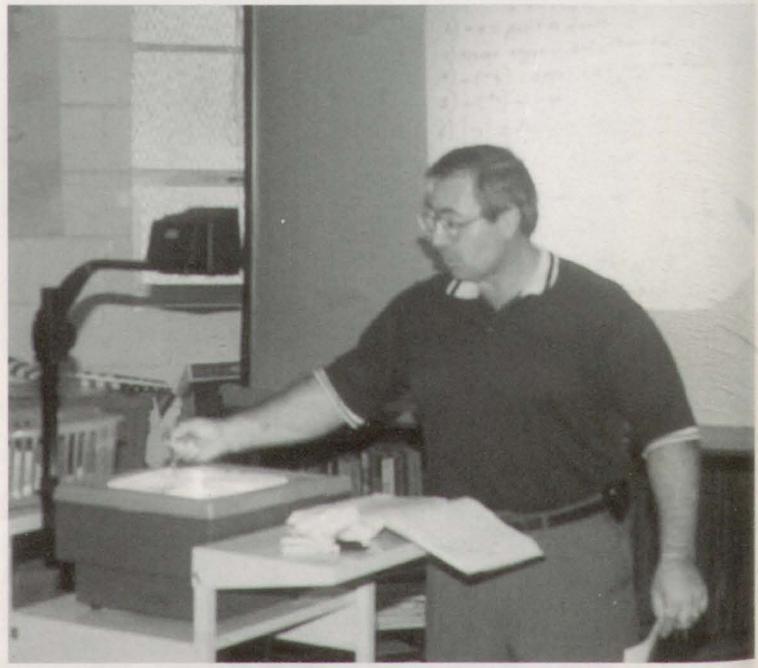

"Hello, Northeast Lasseter, How may I help you?" William Turner really knows how to make someone's day special with a simple phone call. (Wonder if that's what the parent on the other line thinks?)

Math

Tiffany Archer knows that studying and practicing are key ingredients to success in math.

Khalil Derzi is a dedicated calculus teacher that does his best to make math interesting and fun.

Math is Fun!

Mathematics began and continues to be a way of organizing one's world, through the study of quantity and space, their properties and the relationships within and between concepts. Mathematics is first experienced as a language created to describe the world, accompanied by rules that govern its use. Exploring mathematics results in generalizations and abstractions which are, in turn, investigated as abstract systems. Mathematics today includes much more than comprehension of concepts and proficiency skills; mathematics has become a dynamic process, involving exploration, conjecture, logical reasoning, critical and creative thinking, communication and problem solving.

Mathematics is a dynamic subject. At least half of all mathematics has been invented or discovered since 1945. Therefore, the study of mathematics must be a dynamic process that guides and encourages students to think, reason and solve problems. To do this successfully and effectively, students must listen to, speak, read and write the language of mathematics.

Technology has changed our lives. Technology has changed not only the way mathematics is taught, but also what mathematics is taught. Calculators and computers are valuable and appropriate tools for learning mathematics at all grade levels.

Presently, the math department is composed of the following energetic professionals: Kathy Wheeler, John Simmons, Gloria Brooks, Dene Harper, Charlie Simmons, Mary Schueler, Paulette Williams, Daniel Jolley, Khalil Derzi and Thurnell Johnson.

Charlie Simmons poses for a quick picture. It seems that even teachers aren't camera shy.

"Surprise! you're on candid camera. Are these teachers caught in the act of roaming the halls?"

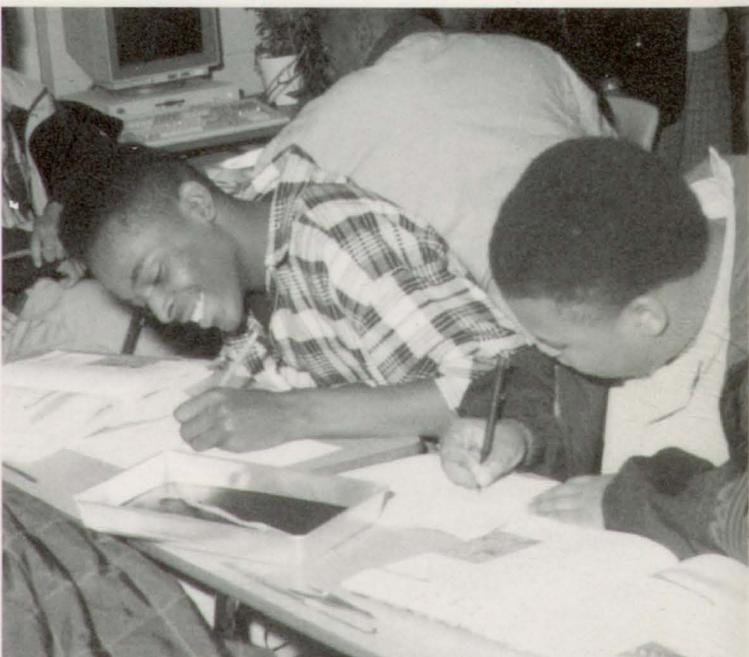

SCIENCE

"I'm not touching it, you do it." Artravia Horton bravely dissects an earthworm while Shayla James looks on.

Keizia Parks, Keshia Clemons, along with Marvis Robertson work together with Mrs. McElroy to get their schoolwork done.

Who says science isn't fun? Not these two gentlemen. With a smile on his face, this student efficiently and accurately gets things done.

Science

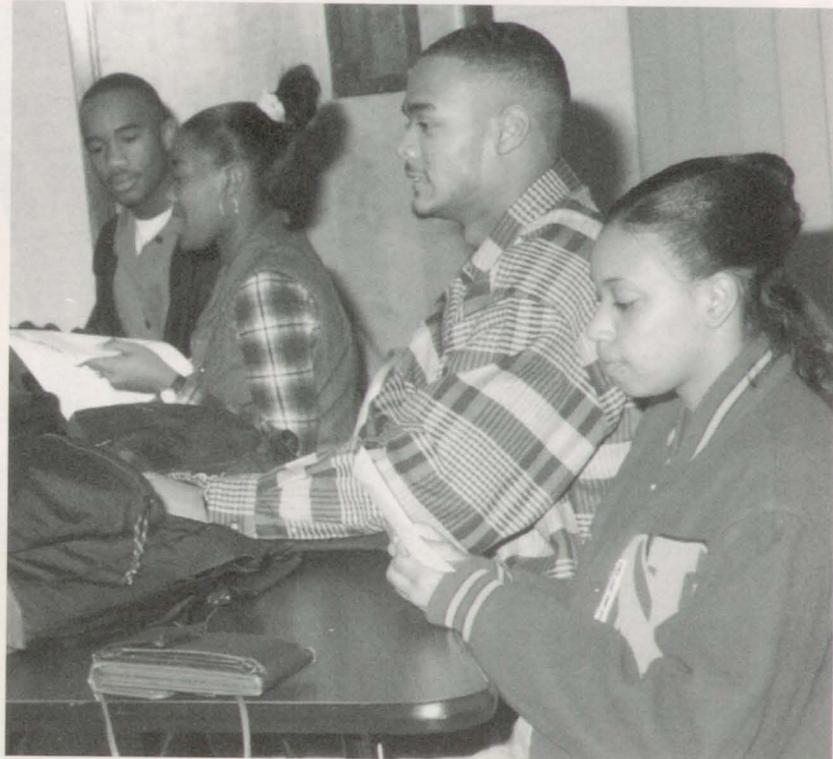

The Northeast Health Science Magnet High School's science department consists of nine teachers. They are Linda Brooks, Given Brown, Mark DuBois, Charles Harden, Liza Jones, Gail Lewis, Eva McElroy, Fred Persley, and Chiquita Roberts. The summer of 1995, these teachers were trained and prepared to embark on a new adventure in using more technology in science. The initiation of Northeast High School as a Magnet school has allotted the science department to get laser discs, video microscopes, oil-immersion microscopes, new high tech computers (in every room), TI-82 calculators, video dissecting microscopes, CBL, models of human anatomy and the preparation of a highly sophisticated wet lab and lecture classroom.

There are two new teachers added to the science department, Eva McElroy and Liza Jones. Mrs. McElroy stated that she takes great pride in being a part of the changes for academic success at Northeast. New equipment and methods of teaching serve as an inspiration to students and teachers. Ms. Jones commented that her first year here has been full of excitement. The science department has purchased many new types of equipment and supplies and has on occasion worked with the math department to try to incorporate the two subjects into the same classroom. She feels that the students will benefit greatly from the science department's new equipment and approach to teaching. One major goal of the science department is to take education to a higher level in the science curriculum as a team.

by Gail Lewis, Department Chair

Antonio Slappy and Chivas Clark are on a mission to get the girl with all the answers. Chasity Emory and Brandi Aaron fit the bill perfectly.

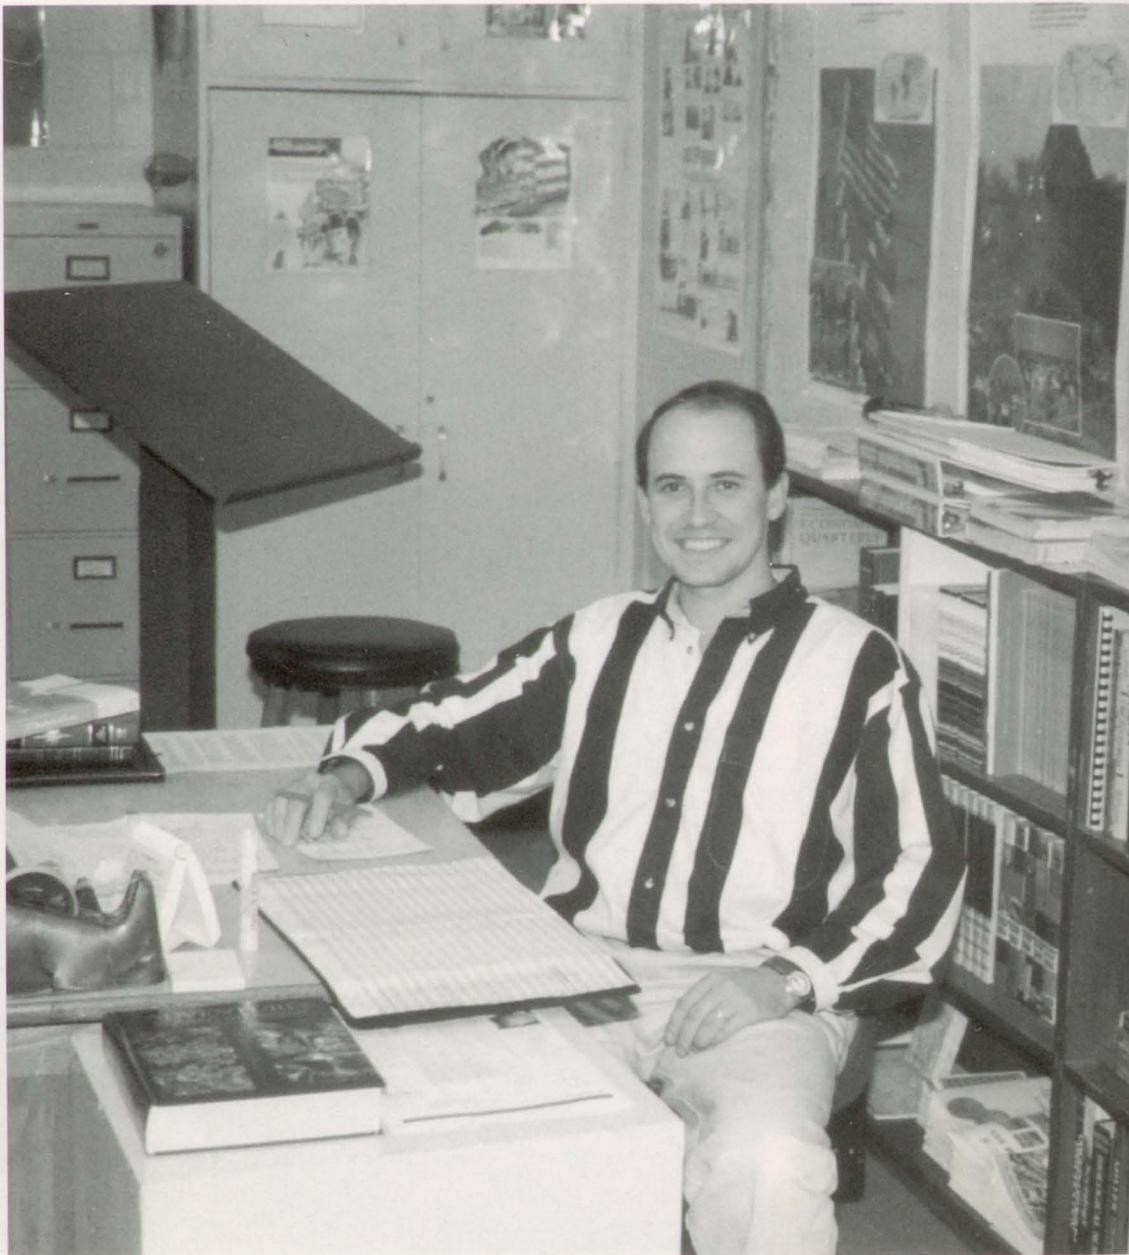

"No, Richelle you're wrong. The answer is not pi. It's 2435ml." Sometimes friends need to work together. Angie Hayes and Richelle Williams are always working together.

Senioritis? What's that? Annetia Jones and Marcia Waller are two seniors that refuse to slack off, especially in science.

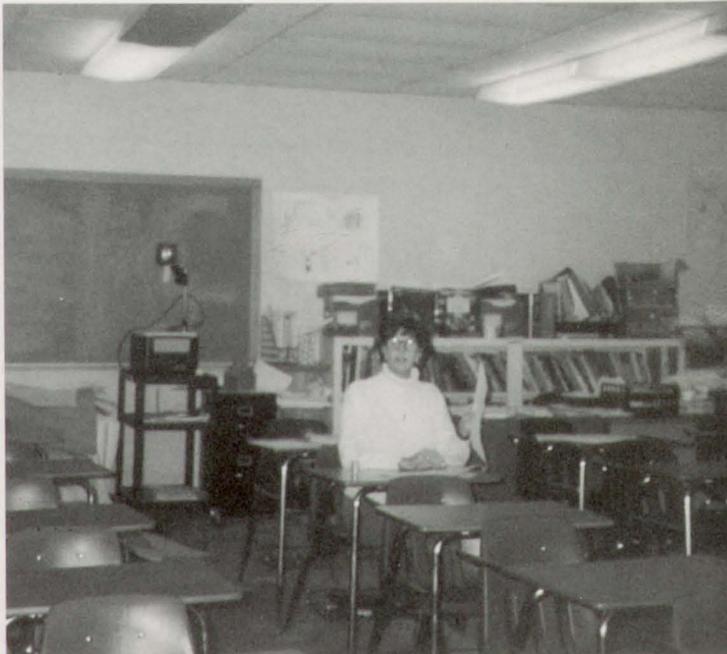

Social Studies

Cameron Andrews sits with a bright smile waiting for the next victim of his economics test. Social Studies instructors are known to give challenging exams.

Lydia Hutchins always has time for tutoring, even with her responsibilities as department chair.

Nova Bruss, what are you still doing here? Dedication is one characteristic of teachers that is essential for a successful program.

Social Studies

The Social Studies department has eight teachers. They are Cameron Andrews, Nova Bruss, Walter Daniely, Gwen Green, Lydia Hutchins, Willie Street, John Swint, and Lonnie Wheeler.

Classes taught include Civics, U. S. History, World History, and Economics.

These teachers are nothing short of dedicated.

What's the matter Gwen Green? Did you lock yourself out of your classroom?

"Oh, oh say can you see..." A citizen's duty is to respect the country in which she or he lives. This student takes pride in raising the American Flag.

"Man, what's the matter with you? Didn't you study for Mrs. Bruss's test last night?" Yarvis Pringle and Chris Carswell discuss their performance on the day's test.

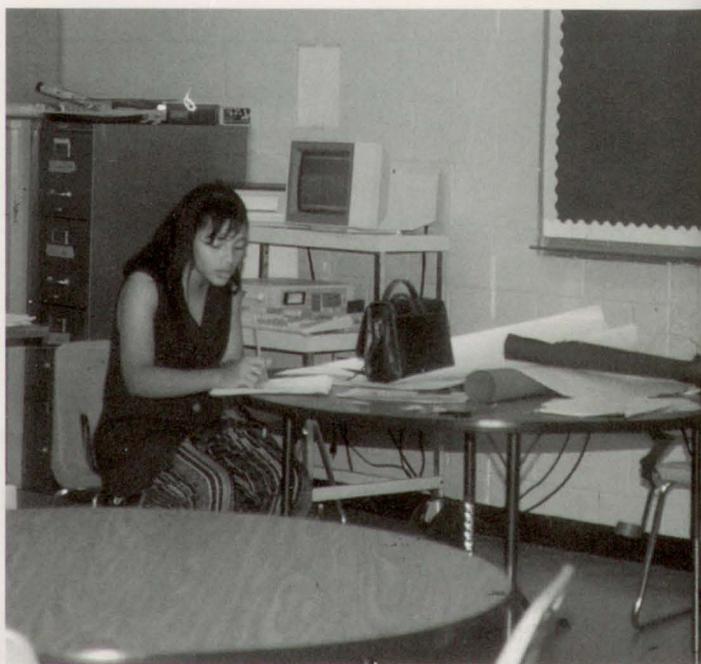

Language Arts

Some students in Mrs. Duhart's Twelfth Grade English Class try hard to read their book while they are having others to distract them from their work. And why does Al have that book on his head?

Keeping students awake during class is very hard for a teacher to do. Mrs. Jones seems to have no problem keeping her students on their toes.

Senior Dionne Benjamin always stays on top her academic studies, here she is making good use of her free time.

CURRICULA, CURRICULUM "TANTA ERAT CÆDES UT PERPAUCI EFFEGERENT"

BR-R-R-RING!

"Good morning, class!"

"Huh? You talkin' to me?"

"Please take out your literature books and open to..."

SLAM!!!

"You're late, Tyrone, do you have a pass to class?"

"I don't need no note. I wasn't late. I jus' got to school and I had to go to my locker in Lasseter and the lock wouldn't open so I had to get a book from my cousin and..."

"With no note you'll have to serve detention tomorrow after school."

"I can't tomorrow; I have to work. Can't I come in the morning?"

"Tomorrow morning, then. Here is your detention notice. Take your seat and take out your text book."

"Mrs. Smith?"

"Yes, Tyrone?"

"Got a book I can use?"

"Our homework for last night was on page 214. I know that everyone enjoyed the story about life among the Eskimos. Before we check our answers to the review exercise, are there any questions?" "Ms. Smith?"

"Yes, Shonda."

"I need to go to the bathroom."

"Shonda, the bell just rang; you should have gone between classes."

"I didn't have to go then; this is an emergency."

"Come up and get a note!!!"

"On page 214, we find marvelous details about the barren and mysterious..."

BE-E-EP! BE-E-EP! (PAUSE)

"May I have you attention to the morning announcements!"

Please send the reports that you did not turn in three weeks ago to the office before the echo of my voice reaches your ears. Also all daily counts must be...and finally, there will be a faculty meeting this afternoon, but don't worry, we'll send out for supper. Have a nice day."

"Class, please notice on page 306, the wonderful description of the chase after the White Whale in the last chapter."

"Anthony, we still have two minutes before the bell. Don't put your books away."

"If you have any questions that I have not cleared up, please remember them and I will answer them tomorrow. Your homework for tonight is to read pages 222 through..."

BR-R-R-RING!!!!

In us, you, your parents, and our community place unenviable responsibility and trust. At times, we are not worthy; at others, we are more than formidable; always we are there for you. We gaze out each day into a sea of faces, never knowing who will find an answer, who will be challenged, who is lost and waiting for us to restructure the steps of those that have the armament to protect themselves in the storms and struggles that lie ahead.

The view from behind the desk is frightening. We hold the keys to pass on to you that will unlock mysteries that have only been dreamed of heretofore. Possessing these keys is an awesome burden, but we shoulder it. To paraphrase the motto of Boy's Town, "It ain't heavy; it's for the men and women of the future."

The gift that we give is for the taking; it's free to all. As you grow and have families, you will better understand the words of knowledge and encouragement that you have received since entering the public school system. Take advantage every day of all that your teachers have to offer; challenge them to give you their best; reach out with sorrow to those who, for whatever reason did not take advantage of the opportunity.

With your help, we will continue; with our help, your future will be brighter. At Northeast, we have become a family, a family forever. God speed, my child, chosen now to be man and woman.

by Neil McKay

"What do you think this caption should say?" Shaunelle Brezial spends hours trying to place copy for the yearbook.

Foreign Language

Foreign language is a subject that many students find challenging. It requires a lot of memorization and practice. However, for those who are interested, it can be a rewarding experience. In this section, we will explore the different types of foreign languages taught in schools and the benefits of learning them.

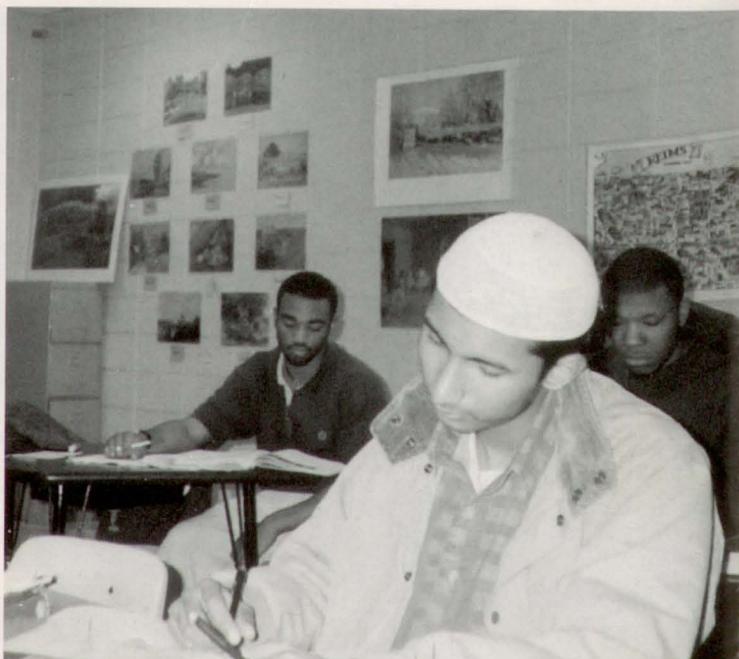

Tashana Strange, John Cornelius, and Muhammed Ali along with their peers find speaking in tongues challenging. "Muhammed's pretty smart so I guess I'll try to see what he has on his paper," says John.

While Ms. Hudson helps a student of hers, Sylvia Glover and Trishonda Flowers find something else to keep their time, "Girl, did you see Mary J. Blige's new video last night?"

Muhammed has foreign language down; but sometimes during the class even he could use a rest. Temarcus Cleveland finds the subject simply thrilling.

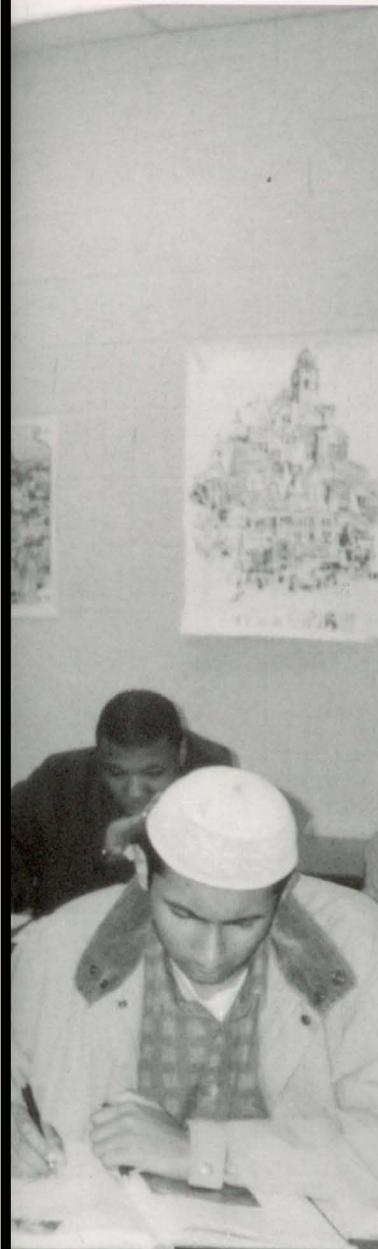

Foreign Language

The Foreign Language department consists of four teachers, Maitland Hudson (French), Cathy Bernat (Spanish), Maria Kowalewski (Spanish), Robert Fightmaster (Latin). Their focus is on modern foreign language students working daily to develop these four languages skills: reading, writing, speaking, and understanding the target language. There is also a strong cultural component to our curriculum. Students are regularly exposed to French and Spanish customs so that they will develop an understanding of and an appreciation for cultural diversity in today's world.

During the week of Mardi Gras, all foreign language students are invited to participate in our Carnival celebration. Students can receive extra credit for wearing costumes and making decorations. The week culminates with a Mardi Gras banquet on Friday that features native dishes from the French and Spanish speaking world.

Jamila Jackson finds better things to do than being bored. "Jamila, when are you going to give me some answers!" Exclaims Kawanna Huston.

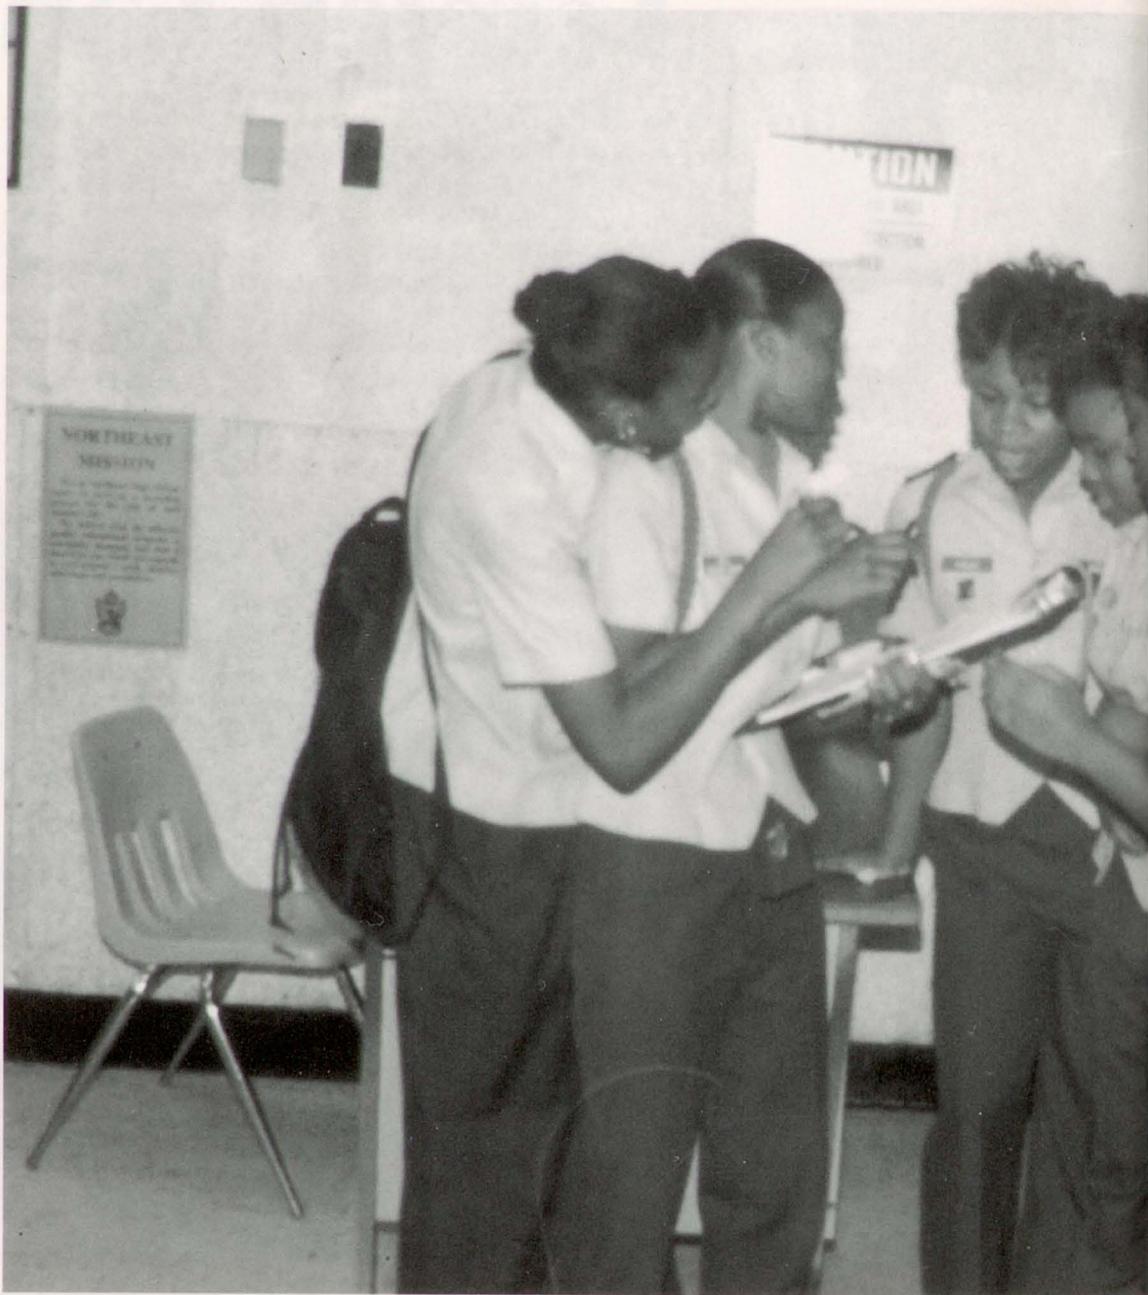

"Do that work girl!" Jasmine Williams works furiously with her Spanish work.

Juanita Clark sits individually among millions. In this class, she sits alone.

ARMY JROTC

"While the Sergeant's away, the private's will play." Some of the cadets look at what's on the agenda for the day.

The Color Guard and Officers are presented during the Martin Luther King Ceremony.

Hands on skills and experience is a must in JROTC. Rogers Worthy works hard on his project of making name tags.

Atten-nn-tion!

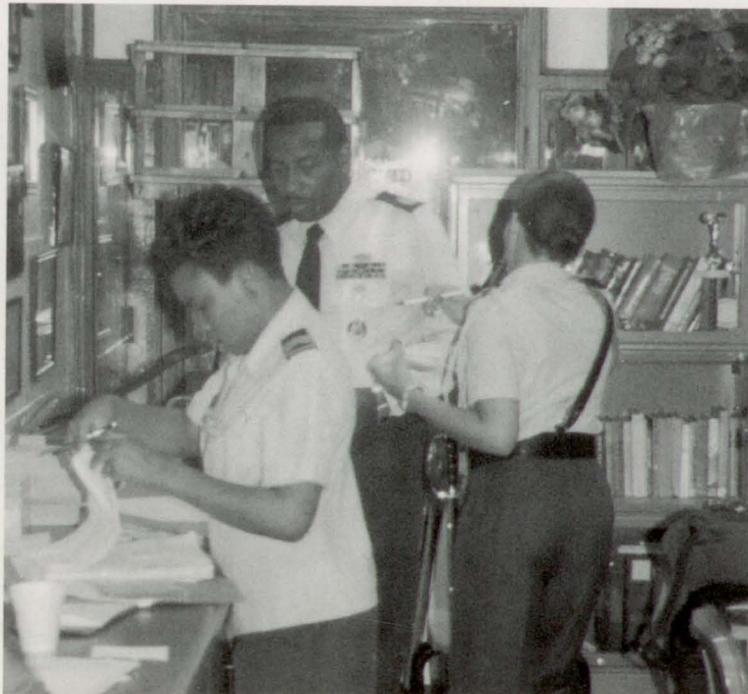

The mission of the Army JROTC is to motivate young people to be better Americans. To accomplish this mission, the program of instruction (POI) discusses courses such as citizenship, leadership other courses designed to help cadets succeed in high school and beyond. The POI is systematically progresses learning for the cadet's development at each grade level.

This year, the Northeast "Raider" Battalion was designated as an Honor Unit with Distinction, based on their performance and formal inspection results last school year. Cadet enrollment rose to 216 members. Dionne Benjamin was named battalion commander. Training was exciting with 15 cadets attending summer camp at Ft. Stewart, GA., 125 cadets attended a one day orientation to the U.S. Army Ranger School at Ft. Benning, and cadet role models visited a number of Macon elementary schools. The battalion's food drive presented 20 Thanksgiving food baskets to needy families. We continued our long tradition of providing color guards for school activities, and visiting community nursing homes.

Four senior cadets were recommended for attendance at U.S. military academies or senior college level ROTC scholarships.

Sgt. Dingle, this room's not big enough for the three of us. Dionne Benjamin, Paula Parker, and Sgt. Dingle prepare for the day's drills.

Never a task, Sgt. Ikner prepares the flag for the day.

Drills are a part of daily life for a cadet.

Vocational Skills

Lula Curry shows Lawanna Hamm and Amy Wilson exactly what to do in Horticulture.

Dionne Benjamin knows the importance of typing skills. Next year in college she's going to have to type all of her papers.

Vocational Skills

The Vocational Department is headed by Brenda Davis and boasts eight instructors. They are Gwen Green, Lula Curry, Linda Little, Joyce Robinson, Braxton Harris, Lula Williams, Brenda Davis, and the new addition Kathy Dean.

All of these teachers help make one of the most thorough departments of vocational in the county.

Some of the courses offered include Horticulture, in which students learn how to cultivate and arrange floral designs. Mrs. Robinson teaches business and helps students develop entrepreneurial skills through training in the balloon shop.. Kathy Dean is the new Health Occupations instructor heading the new magnet class.

Students test their skills using medical aid equipment.

Students like Xavier Tharpe were lucky enough to learn CPR thanks to the American Red Cross and Mrs. Sikes.

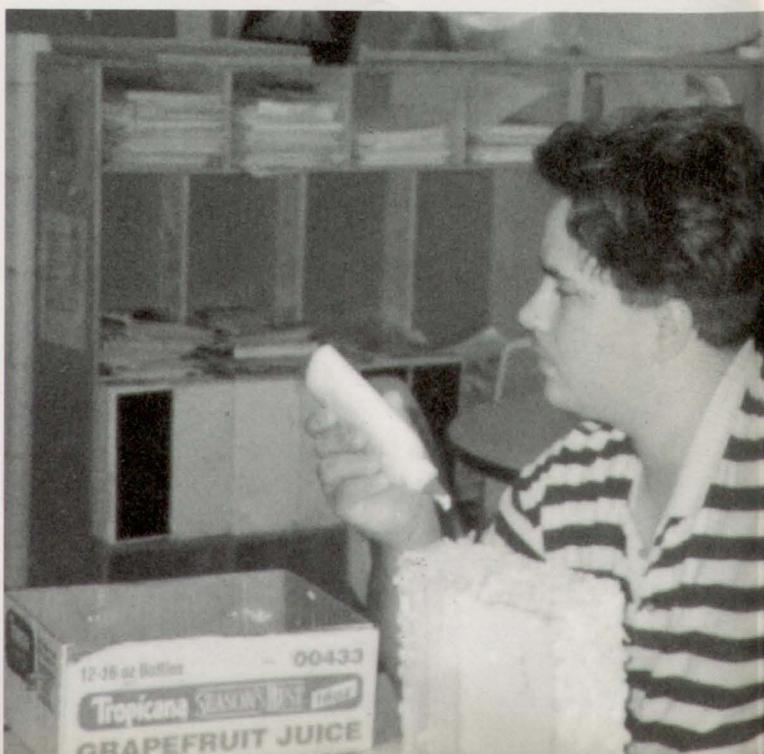

Special Education

Knit one, pearl two... Ann Adams shows Kim Byrd how to make crafts out of yarn.

"Yes, I do have eyes in the back of my head." Teachers are constantly on their toes monitoring classes.

Ricky Winters and Donny Hulto have lots of fun decorating boxes.

Special Education

The Special Education Department is a great program that prepares students for life after a school setting. The curriculum is designed to teach and maintain some level of independence after school. Geraldine Davis, assisted by Anne Adams and Traci Jucciar are the primary teachers.

The objective of the class is to maintain a level of attention and effort throughout a school or work everyday. The teachers help the students to identify and understand the meaning of survival words, such as fire, poison, etc. that are stated and appear in public places.

These teachers also teach the students to understand and accept the consequences for their own actions and increase their survival, reading and math skills. "Each student has his/her own goals, we individualize!" stated Geraldine Davis.

The students learn how to sew, sort buttons and do crafts. They also visit the Georgia Association for the Blind where they participate in horticulture activities.

THE WINNER AFTER ALL

Last night, I went to a football game and I guess, some would say it was awesome or really out of sight

But what really happened and what I saw kept me lying awake most of the night

So very obvious, from the beginning would continue play by play
Unfairness, criticism and prejudice would take the sportmanship of the game away

Rules meant for all, by the officials were not only bent but totally broken- To make sure the other team would win was their on and only token

I saw happiness, anger, broken spirits, emotions of every single kind and seeing all of this brought thoughts of my daddy and a special memory to mind

Of a softball game, the most important one of the season- unfair calls and decisions, we would lose, prejudice was the reason

Waiting with open arms, my

Daddy dried my tears-then what he told me that night, I would carry with me throughout the years

He told me that even by losing I did win for I had gained wisdom and knowledge for the next game, I would play in.

He told me that I could always expect unfairness, criticism and prejudice in my walk of life
But I must stand firm in what I believed and what I thought was right

He told me that God always heard the criticism and saw the unfairness done to another but when God looked at someone- God never saw color.

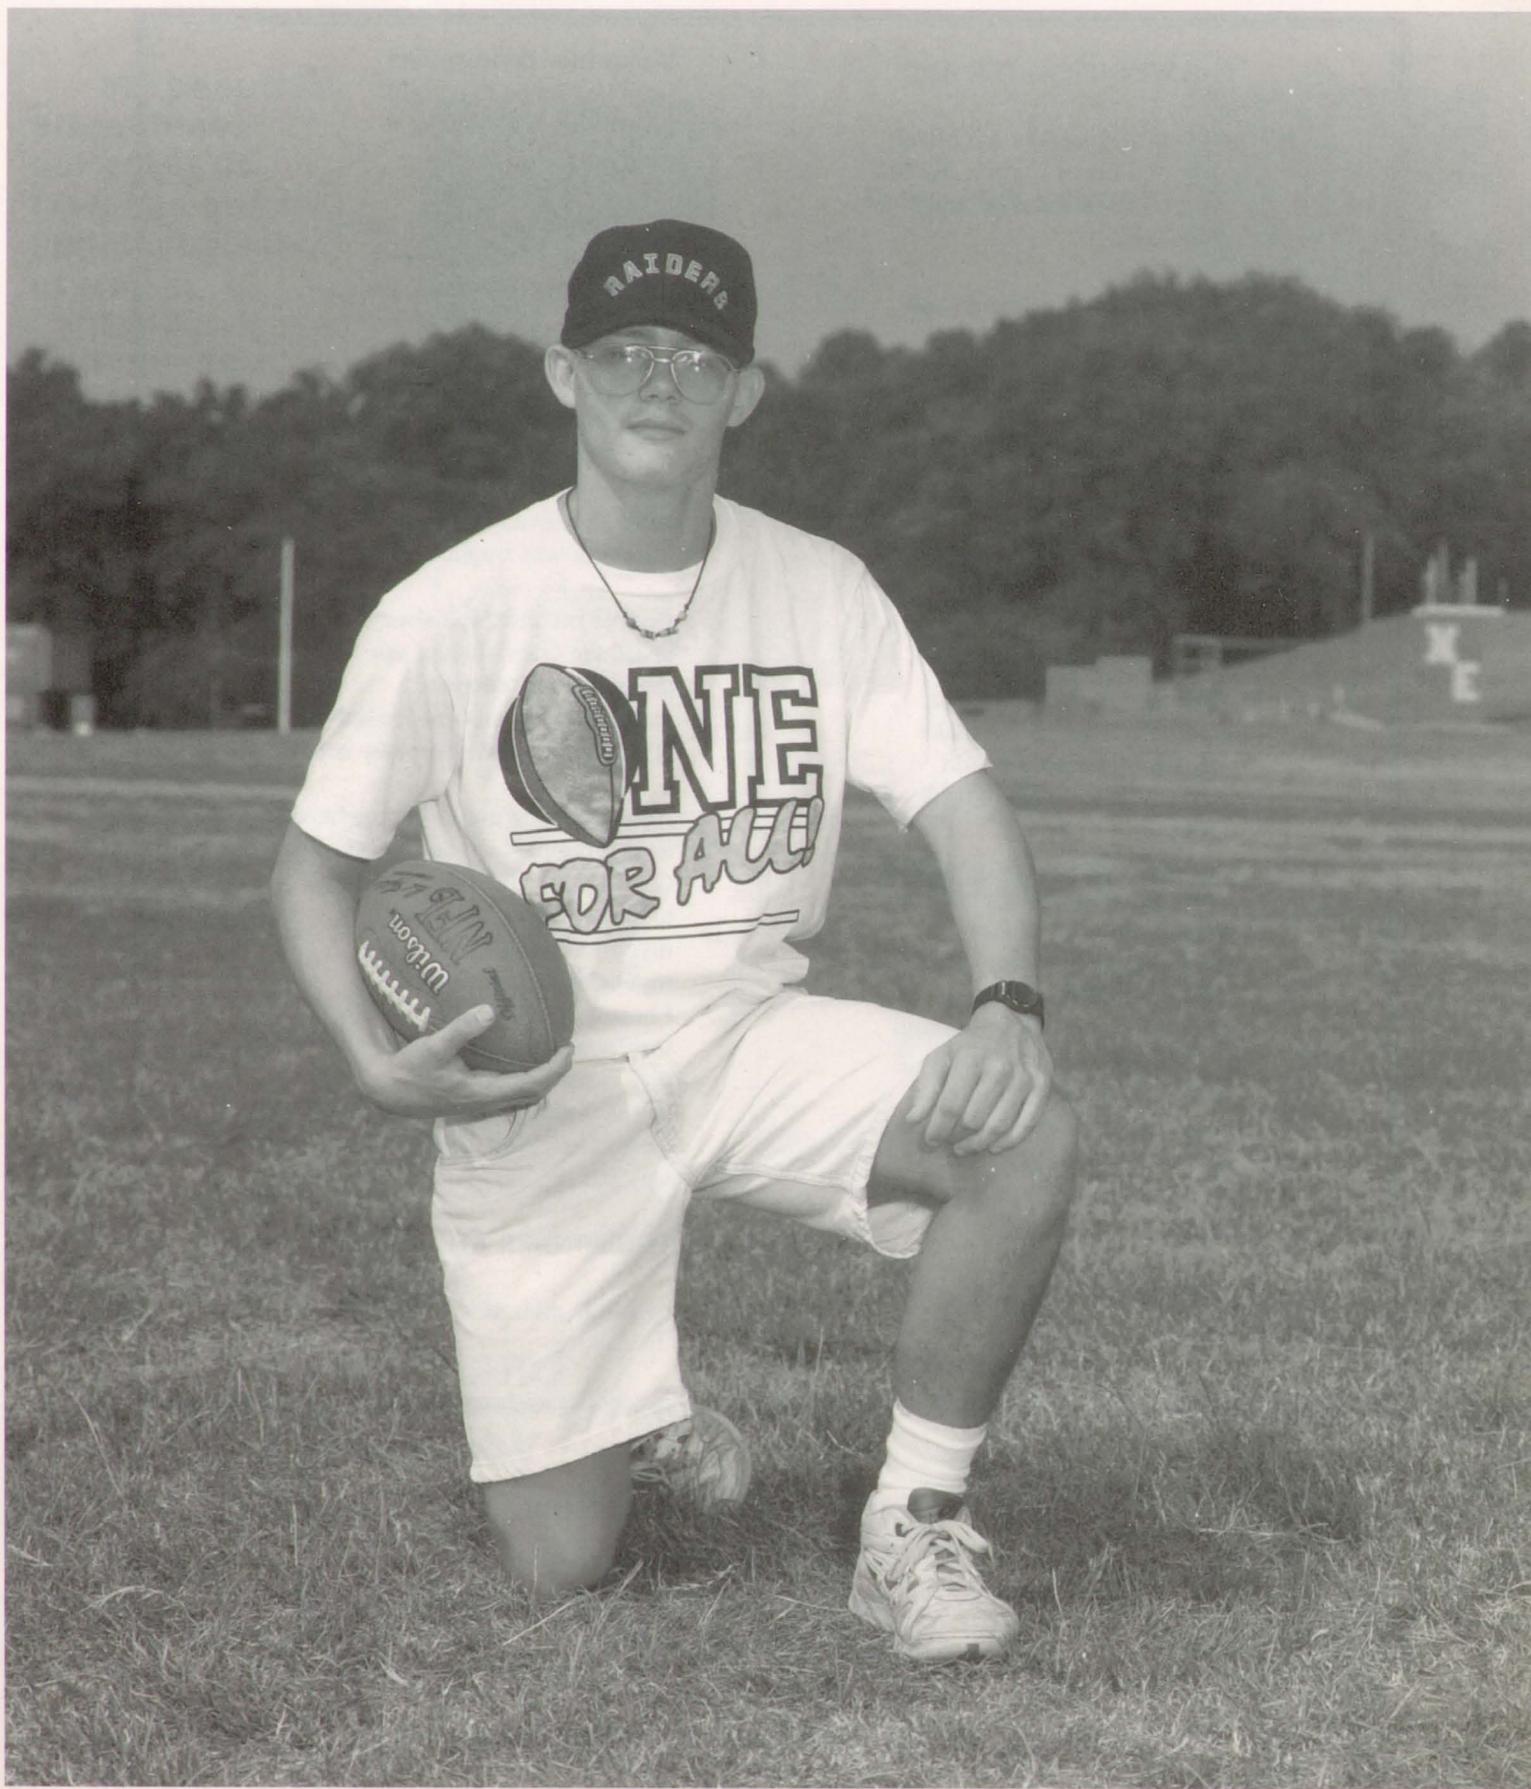

Now I'm lying awake remembering and trying to sleep and as I do God, I hope you will hear and help me to teach- not only my children but others what my Daddy taught to me.
I hope you will always be there when I stumble and pick me up when I fall
But most importantly- Help me to look at others the way you do, then I'll be

THE WINNER AFTER ALL!

Shaunelle,

You will never truly know the extent of my appreciation. You are a special person a talented individual. I know that you will succeed in anything and everything that you do.

How hopeful it makes me feel to know that there are young women like you that will mature into powerful and intelligent women of tommorrow.

Best of luck always. God Bless.

Always,
Donna Araúz

Octavia,

I cannot adequately express the gratitude I have for your overwhelming dedication. You are a God send.

I know that you will prove to be an asset to whatever college you choose (it just better be Wesleyan)

Best of luck always and God bless.

Always,
Donna Araúz

Colophon

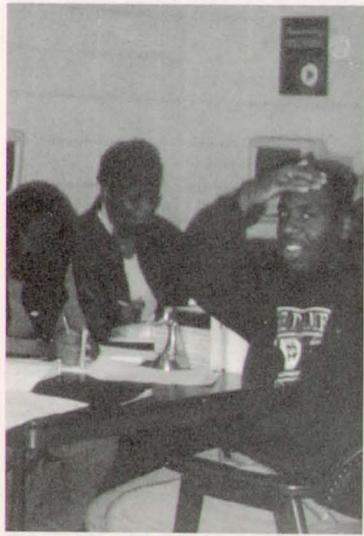

The 1996 Valhalla was published by Walsworth Printing in Marceline, Missouri. Two hundred copies, printed on 80lb. gloss stock, were produced with 172 pages in each book. The book dimensions are 8.5 x 11, size seven book. The following type fonts were used: Broadway, Jefferson, Times Roman and London.

The cover and theme were designed by Walsworth and the yearbook staff. The cover is an embossed with one color application. The theme was chosen for its appropriateness of the new status of the students, school and magnet program as leaders in the community.

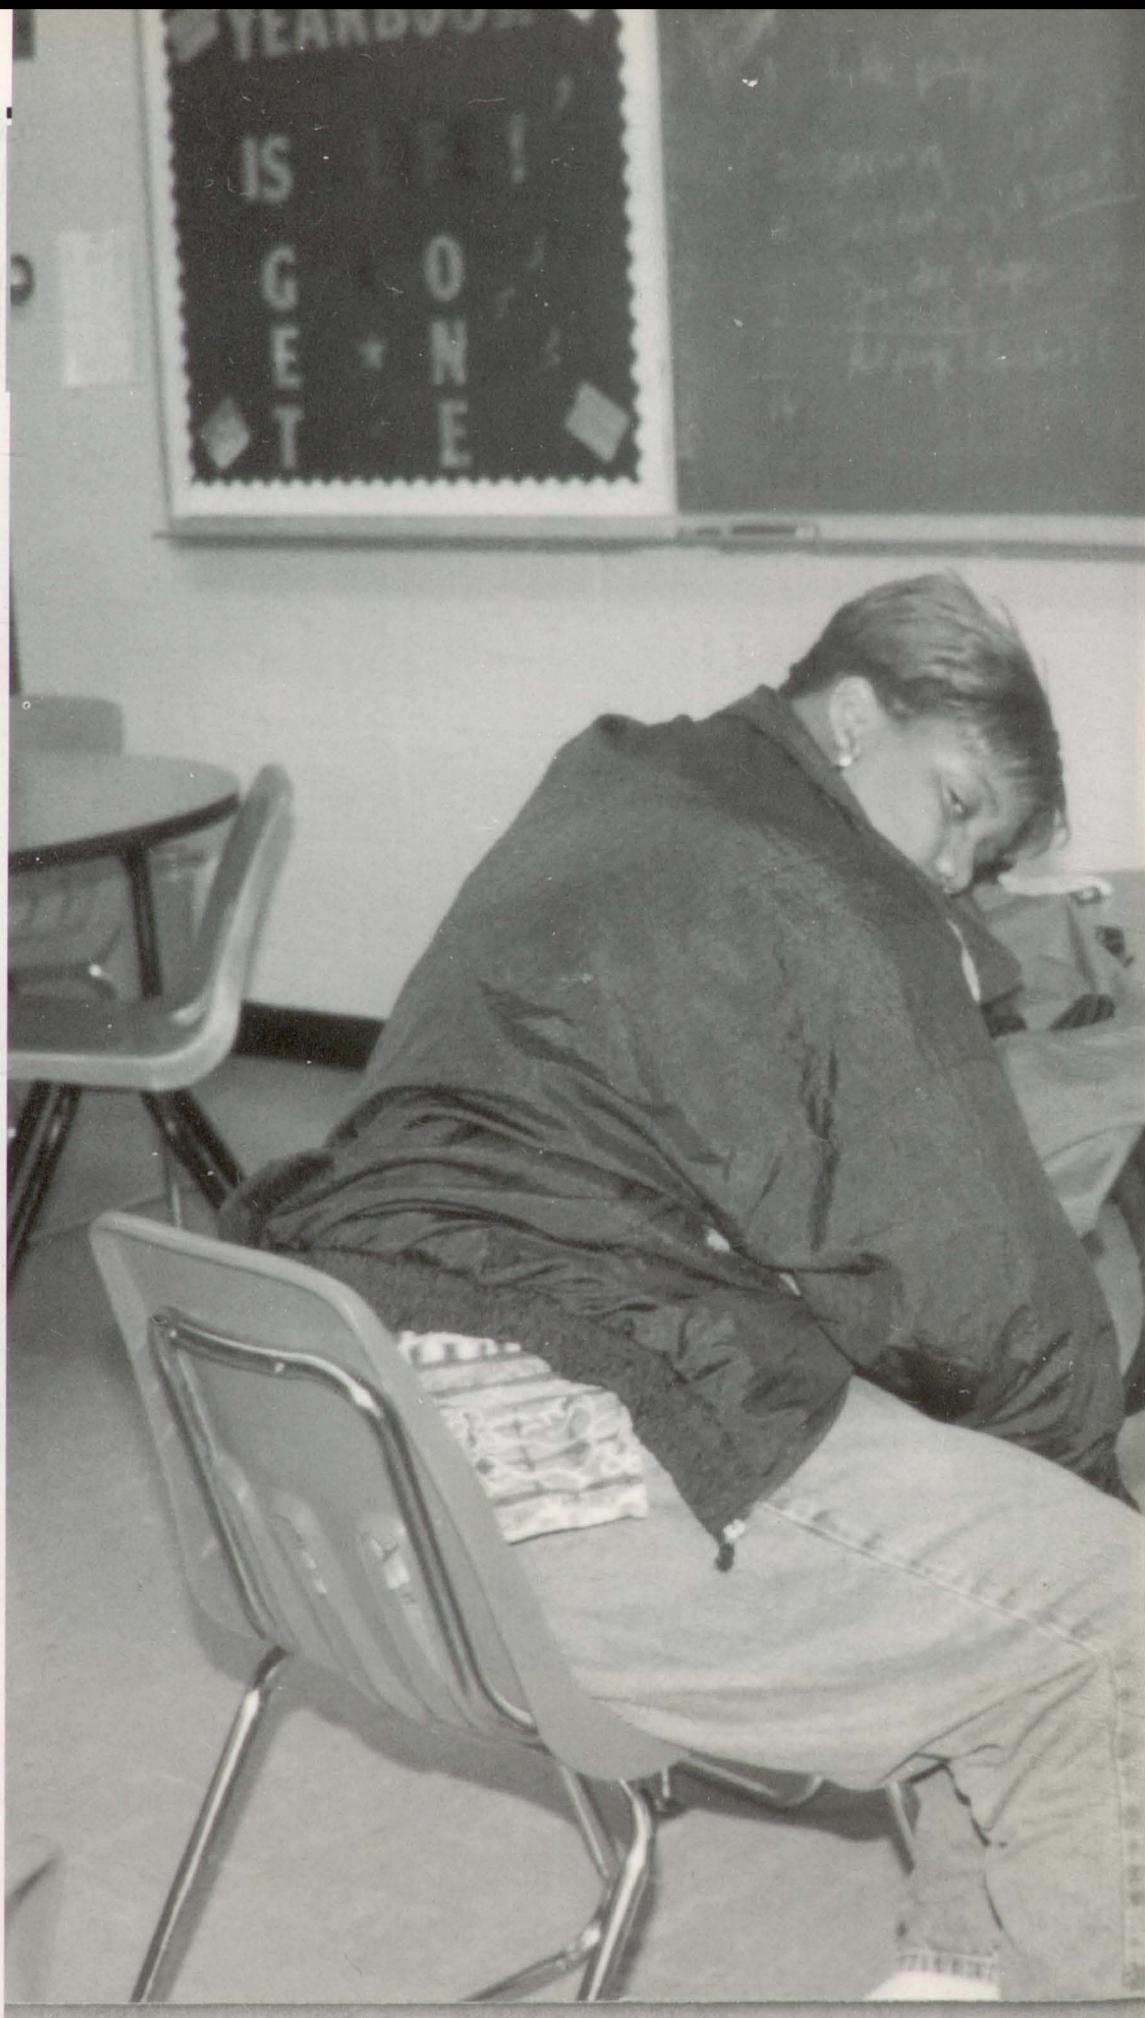

Class portraits were taken by SPI in Atlanta, Georgia.

The book was produced through the cooperation of the yearbook staff, the advisor, and the dedicated yearbook rep, Ed Neubaum.

"How does my hair look?" "Is it in place?" Sundanyal Farmer fixes himself up to take a picture.

"After all that school work I've done, I need a break!" Exclaims Terralyn Tugle.

Still Leading

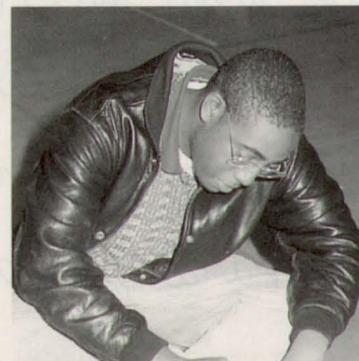

We hope that you liked the yearbook. It was put together with hardwork from a staff, and dedicated advisor. The Valhalla

Staff loves the school and all of it's family. We hope that positive feelings are returned. We say goodbye to the Class of '96 and say good luck to you in the future. Everyone worked together to keep us on top, While We Lead.

"Girl, will you please give me my Dooney back!" Tammy Taylor frantically grasps for her pocketbook from her friend, Erica Ridley.

"I've always wanted to save a plastic person's life" Marquis Dover works patiently on bringing this "person" to life.

Andrew Bryant keeps his lucky cat by his side for good luck before the game tonight. E
